'Peace Can't Be Bought Cheap'

Laird Says Adequate Defense Budget A Must

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird said today that national security would be jeopardized by the Moscow arms agreement "unless there is continued support for an adequate defense budget."

Laird told the Senate Armed Services Committee that the ABM treaty and the interim agreement on offensive weapons "are good for America.

"They enhance our security," he said, "they permit us to maintain needed strength.

"But by themselves they do not automatically guarantee these national security gains.

"Peace cannot be bought cheaply.

"The opportunities for peace embodied in the SALT agreements would be nullified and our national security jeopardized unless there is continued strong support for an adequate defense budget."

Laid said Soviet Communist party chief Leonid Brezhnev told President Nixon in Moscow that the Russians intended to go forward with weapons development programs.

"It should be no surprise when I report to you that this is precisely what they are doing," the defense chief said.

"During the past several weeks the Soviet Union has been conducting a series of tests involving new ballistic programs, including multiple warhead technology. In addition, continued testing of existing systems is moving ahead."

Laird called for continuing U.S. development of the new Trident super-submarine, the B1 bomber as a replacement for the B52, a submarinelaunched cruise missile, SLCM, and other weapons programs.

Committee Chairman John C. Stennis, D-Miss., in opening the hearings, said they would be geared to determining military implications of the SALT agreements, whether the United States would maintain a deterrent capability with the agreements, and whether that would be possible without the agreements.

Laird has declared publicly that he could not support the U.S.-Soviet pacts limiting offensive and defensive nuclear missiles without continued U.S. development of new submarine and bomber systems.

"The success of SALT depends on sustained strength," Laird had said in remarks which differ, in emphasis at least, from the positions outlined by presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger.

Kissinger has maintained that the administration is interested equally in congressional approval of both the arms accords and funds for continued development of weapons exempt from the agreements. But he has said, "We are not making them conditional."

The new weapons programs came under fire Monday from Senate Foreign Relations Committee members who questioned Secretary of State William P. Rogers.

Chairman J.W. Fulbright, DArk., said that shifting the arms race to exempt weapons would be "inconsistent" with the spirit of the agreements.

Rogers said the United States wants to reach additional arms agreements in continuing talks with the Soviets, but asserted that "we have to do it from a position of strength."

After all, he said, Soviet Communist party chief Leonid I. Brezhnev has declared that Russia will move ahead on weapons improvements.

SeMo Man's Appeal Leads To New Court Procedure

KANSAS CITY — The Missouri Supreme Court will hear appeals only in cases involving constitutional questions and criminal cases involving convictions on first-degree murder charges.

The decision resulted from an appeal by an East Prairie man, Lonnie Garrett, 27, who is serving a 20- year sentence for first degree robbery, and is intended to free the court from routine criminal appeals in order to have more time to consider important cases fully, Chief Justice James A. Finch Jr. said.

Judges predicted that the immediate impact of the decision would be to send a large number of pending cases to the state's three appeals courts at St. Louis, Kansas City and Springfield. Although freeing the Supreme Court of many cases, the action was expected to create a backlog in the appeals courts.

Garrett was returned to New Madrid County in October 1971 by order of the Supreme Court for a hearing on his motion to vacate sentence. Garrett contended the 20- year sentence imposed against him was influenced by a prior conviction in 1959 in Mississippi County when he pleaded guilty to burglary and larceny.

The armed robbery conviction of Garrett stems from the Oct. 27, 1965 shooting of Richard L. Richards, following an automobile accident four miles east of Matthews on Highway 80 in which Lonnie Garrett and Sam Irby were in an automobile driven by Isaac Barker, an employe of Richards.

Richards, who saw the accident, his brother Larry Richards and Barker pursued the trio. When they caught up with them Richard L. Richards was shot and left lying in a ditch. Larry Richards was robbed of $6, driven away and later let out on a country road.

On Jan. 25, 1966, Billy Joe Garrett was sentenced to 50 years, Sam Irby, 40 years and Lonnie Garrett, 30 years, reduced Aug.. 8 1967 to 20 years.

Judge William H. Billings overruled Garrett's motion to vacate sentence on Jan. 4.

Garrett's appeal has been transferred to the Springfield Court of Appeals.

Supreme Court judges decided to use the Garrett case to issue a major interpretation of amendments to the Missouri Constitution that went into effect in January.

Under the changes, the Supreme Court was to hear appeals on offenses "punishable by a sentence of death or life imprisonment."

In an opinion by Judge Robert T. Donnelly, the court held that the phrase referred only to first- degree murder, which is the only crime punishable by life imprisonment or death.

Finch explained in a concurring opinion that 21 other offenses in Missouri carried a minimum sentence but no stated maximum. For example, a rape conviction can bring a penalty of not less than two years.

The court has decided, Finch said, that it would take the amendment literally and hear appeals only on offenses that are punishable by life imprisonment or death. He said the court would continue also to hear appeals where a death sentence has been imposed.

As for Lonnie garrett, who initiated the case leading to the decision, the Supreme Court transferred his appeal to the Court of Appeals at Springfield because it involved only a robbery charge.

Court To Study Petitions

BENTON — In a spirited hearing Monday on a proposed election for a County nursing home, Scott County Court took under advisement petitions containing over 1,000 signatures.

An attorney for Ira Shuffit, who owns several private nursing homes, contested the validity of the signatures. A legal representative for the county nursing home committee, asked that witnessess be produced to testify in court against the signatures. Shuffit's attorney stated that just looking at the signatures was evidence enough for him.

Presently the County clerk's office is checking the signatures against signatures in voter registration files, for not only must the signatures be authentic, but signers must be registered voters.

The County Court will make its opinion known in a June 26 public hearing.

Republican Hopefuls To Be In Dexter

DEXTER — The entire slate of Republican candidates for nominations for state offices has agreed to attend the second in a series of "Meet The candidates" meetings to be held here tomorrow at 8 p.m. at the football field.

Those GOP hopefuls invited are gubernatorial candidates, Christopher Bond, Gene McNary, R. J. (Bus) King, Stephen Burns and Harvey Euge; lieutenant governor, Gregory Hasman, Joseph L. Badaracco, William Phelps and William Ewald; secretary of state, Harold (Wheels) Keuhle; attorney general, John C. Danforth; and state treasurer, George Parker.

The program, sponsored by the Dexter Statesman-Messenger, is a public service, and no admission to the rally will be charged.

Merit Should Determine Site, Hunter Says

NEW MADRID — In a lengthy article published Monday in Kennett's Daily Dunklin Democrat, State Sen. Nelson Tinnin D-Hornersville, charged Hal E. Hunter, Jr., of wielding his political stick and that of the "New Madrid political machine" to influence possible relocation of Troop E headquarters of the Missouri Highway Patrol.

Tinnin charged that pressure from the machine had influenced Gov. Warren E. Hearnes' decision to delete the Poplar Bluff location in signing an appropriation of funds for a new Troop E facility and that Hearnes in turn would pressure Col. E. I. Hockaday, superintendent of the patrol, into choosing the 20- acre site offered near Sikeston in New Madrid County or one near Charleston, Hearnes' home town, but still in New Madrid

Saturday, Aug. 12, display of exhibits at Kingsway Plaza Mall concludes. Exhibits are to be released between 5 and 7 p.m.

Dexter Offers City Dump Site To Highway Patrol

DEXTER — Mayor Willis Conner was given unanimous approval Monday night by city council members to offer the amount of land considered necessary should Dexter be chosen as the site of Troop E headquarters of the Missouri Highway Patrol.

The proposed site offered by the City of Dexter is a 40-acre tract north of town presently used as the city dump which, according to Conner will be closed in the near future. Conner said Dexter would be an ideal location for the headquarters because of its central location, airport facilities, high elevation and ideal terrain.

Conner appointed Percy Clippard as chairman of the advisory committee to study the situation. Other members of the committee are Louis Jones, Chamber of Commerce president; Don Evans and Bob Robbins, both Chamber of Commerce members and Bill Settles, airport board member.

Terry Howes of C. R. Trotter and Associates reported the new fire station should be completed within a week or 10 days. The council approved payment of $7,200 to C.A.D. Plumbing and Heating, Inc. in partial payment of construction costs.

The council also approvee awarding of contract on the sewage treatment system to John Wickhan, Bunker contractor, in the amount of $122,030.90.

Water Plant In Operation

NEW MADRID — City Administrator Russell Ellis told the council Monday night that the city's new half-million gallon per day water treatment plant is in full operation. The new plant, built at a cost of $380,000, was placed in operation Monday.

A petition was presented by Mrs. Russell Krebs on behalf of residents on Old Kingshighway requesting that trucks be barred from use of the street. A section of the street from Scott Pinnell was recently resurfaced at a cost of $733 per property front foot and residents feared the new street would be damaged by heavy trucks. After discussion, the board ordered an ordinance prepared, limiting trucks to those making delivery and other trucks to a gross weight of 12,000 pounds.

Approved was a new ordinance setting the telephone license tax to five per cent of a monthly base rate on telephone users.

Payment of the tax to the city is to be made quarterly.

Construction bills totaling $758,149.21 at the city's 600-megawatt steam generating station in St. Jude Industrial Park were approved. Also approved were construction payrolls of $204,643.93 for the week ending June 9 and $260,512.91 for the week ending June 16.

Four applications for the position of city administrator were reviewed with no action taken. The office is being vacated by Ellis, whose resignation is effective July 6.

Street paving bills on Old Kingshighway were discussed due to a question of ownership of property adjoining the St. Louis Southwestern Railroad right-of-way. After examination of city maps and plats, it was found that the land at the rear of property owners on Scott Street from Old Kingshighway to Capital was the old Riley street right of way which had been closed through disuse.

The board ordered a record search be made to determine if the street had been dedicated to the city. If found to be dedicated, the council plans to reopen the street and strike the tax bills.

Injunction Halts Cleaning Of Ditch

BLOOMFIELD — A temporary injunction against the City of Dexter to halt contractors from cutting trees and brush along a drainage ditch was issued Monday in Stoddard County Circuit Court by Judge William H. Billings.

The injunction, naming City of Dexter; Keener Gravel Company, Incorporated; Earl Kinder, a sub-contractor of Keener; and Randy Kinder, employe and son of Earl Kinder, came after C. H. Parsons, Jr., Dexter attorney, and Willard Brown filed a request last week to stop brush-clearing along the east-west drainage ditch located south of the Westport Subdivision, which is owned by Parsons and Brown. The men contend their property is being damaged by the clearing operations.

Judge Billings set a hearing date for July 31 to determine whether or not a permanent injunction should be made in the case.

Teens Appear In Flag Theft

Two teen-agers appeared in Magistrate Court today and pleaded guilty to charges stemming from the April 12 theft of two flags from the home and campaign headquarters of C. F. Cline, candidate for Democratic nomination for state representative from the 159th district.

David Ervin Davis, 18, of Morley, and James Earl Young, 17, of Parma will be sentenced next Tuesday.

Davis had told police he bought the flags in Cape Girardeau when they were actually received from a group of Sikeston juveniles. Young is charged with knowingly receiving stolen goods.

The flags were discovered by police in an apartment the youths had rented at 302 Heath St.

The case of David Lee Cathy was turned over to New Madrid County today. He was arrested May 31 after allegedly pointing a .30-.30 caliber rifle at a policeman and threatening to shoot.

Judge Lloyd Briggs dismissed charges against a man thought to be a Sikeston juvenile wanted for the robbery of Spanish 66 Service Station. The man, arrested by Michigan police, has been released.

A warrant was issued for the arrest of Willie Rule, Route Four, for failure to appear in court on charges of driving without a license.

A preliminary hearing was set for next week to hear evidence against Ronald Henson, Route Four, charged with the attempted breakin of the William Lee Williams liquor store on Highway 61.

Other cases heard today include: Dorothy E. Chiles, 3751A Meramec in St. Louis, careless and imprudent driving, fined $75 and costs. Ulys Love Lane, Jon Don Acres trailer court, speeding, $18 and costs. Anita L. Parker, East Prairie, Box 203 speeding, $30 and costs.

Earnest Lee Shannon, Route Four, careless and imprudent driving, dismissed with the state paying costs. Jack Crawford, 8507 Craig Hill in St. Louis, speeding, $10 and costs. Uelma Ellen Linam, 512 Coleman, no driver's license, $5 and costs.

Samuel White, Memphis, Tenn., speeding, $82 and costs. Joseph Lanier Brule, Granite City, careless and imprudent driving, $25 and costs. Edward Gene McGhee, 111 North Martin in East Prairie, no state truck sticker, $25 and cost.

Thomas Lee Shannon, riding in a car he knew to be stolen, dismissed. Willie J. Wilson, Piplar Bluff, felonious assault, dismissed. Oreal Pitts, Steele Route One, nonsupport, dismissed. Odis Dorris Glenn, Canalou, no driver's license, dismissed.

Return Davis To Sikeston

Jack Eugene Davis, 47, of Huntsville, Ala., has been returned to Sikeston police custody after his arrest in Cairo, Ill., during the weekend.

Davis is wanted for cashing more than $500 worth of bogus checks in Sikeston. He is also wanted by Augusta, Ark., authorities on bogus check charges.

Lee Retires From Bank Post

Meredith Lee, senior vice president of Bank of Sikeston, has announced his retirement as an active officer of the bank.

The retirement will be effective July 1. Lee will continue his association with the bank as a member of the board of directors and as a consultant and advisor to the executive staff.

Charles D. Matthews, president of the bank, stated his appreciation for the service Lee has rendered through the 35 years he has served as an employee of the bank. He further stated that, although retiring from his immediate duties, he was pleased that Lee would continue as a director and consultant.

WHAT IS NEWS PROPAGANDA?

Kenneth W. Clawson, a White House spokesman, has accused The New York Times of having "in at least two specific instances." recently acted as a "conduit of enemy propaganda."

He pointed out that on May 14 The Times published on its front page a dispatch that quoted anonyomous "responsible informants" as saying that United States mines sown in North Vietnamese ports could deactivate themselves before President Nixon arrived in Moxcow. He also noted that a Times correspondent in North Vietnam reported on May 18, in a dispatch also printed on the front page, that the North Vietnamese asserted they were clearing Haiphong harbor of mines "as planes drop them, and moving ships in and out," and, "Independent sources give support to that claim."

Both reports were categorically denied by the United States Government.

Mr. Clawson's objection was that, although The Times published the denials, the "enemy propaganda" was given great prominence, and the Government denial in regard to the alleged self-deactivating nature of the bombs was not published until a day after the "propaganda" was printed, while the denial of mine-clearing of ships moving in and out of Haiphong harbor received only secondary treatment in The Times.

Here is another set of instances in which The New York Times has used the form of good journalism but not the substance of it. Giving the enemy first choice of space for his claims in the middle of war is hardly objectivity. Moreover, it strains the reader's credulity when The Times speaks of the enemy in the headlines, and prints the enemy's views prominently side by side and in considerable detail. Yet that has been happening all along in regard to Hanoi's statements at the Paris peace talks.

It is really confusing, the eleven men running for Democratic nomination for Governor, eight for Lieutenant - Governor, and many other candidates at the state level. I have just made up my mind that I know damn well I am going to vote for Jim Kirkpatrick for Secretary of State, the rest of them I am going to let the Primary settle on, and who ever they nominate it looks like the ole editor will have to support them. I have in the past strayed off and voted for Republicans, but every time I have I've really fixed it up and there is one thing about it, if I lost my vote, it is not the first time and it won't be, I guess the last time. I'm not telling anybody else how to vote except there is one candidate that I am going to tell all my employees that I don't care who they vote for, but I want them to vote against this candidate. He is no good for the newspapers, and of course, after 60 years in newspaper business, really that is my first love.

Among the really big retailers in the typical community are grocers, department stores, feed stores, drug stores, and home builders.

And in the typical community these retailers generally invest about 75 per cent of their advertising funds in newspaper adverstising.

In a growing community, home builders probably do more volune than any other group of business men. It is interesting to take a look at their choice o advertising media.

A survey by the Johns - Manville Sales Corp. showed that ninety per cent of the home builders in the United States favor newspapers over any other form of advertising.

The reasons for the preference of newspapers may be answered in questions:

How else can a map showing the route of a new development be placed into the hands of every potential home buyer in a community?

How else can various styles of homes be show to a prospect for simultaneous comparison at his convenience?

How else can the details of financing be explained in a way which will allow for study and deliberate consideration?

What other medium automatically builds the prestige of a builder and engenders faith of the prospect as compared to the local newspaper?

Where else does the prospective home-buyer deliberately seek information on new homes?

In attempting to answer the questions, not many builders can find a substitute for the local newspaper.

As Huey Long, the Louisiana kingish, used to put it almost 40 years ago, Sen. George McGovern wants to "share the wealth."

What McGovern proposes is that the federal government raise the taxes on the rich and distribute the proceeds among the people on the bottom and middle rungs of the nation's income ladder. This has raised the hackles of his rival for nomination, Sen. Hubert Humphrey, who says that he does "not intend to revolutionize the country by the massive redistribution of wealth."

We are reminded that when Franklin Delano Roosevelt took office in 1933, the richest 20 per cent of all the families in the country had about 40 per cent of all the income, and the poorest 20 per cent had only 5 per cent. For all the things that have been said and done in the years since, the percentages are the same today.

There is one exception. All American taxpayers, rich and poor, are faced with a federal deficit of over $350 billion which none of the candidates seem to discuss.

'YES,' THERE'S HELP

This is the time of year when you hear complaints about how difficult it is to find someone to cut the grass, prune the shrubs, rake yards, wash windows and do the odd-jobs around the house.

There's no reason to complain in Sikeston. For the summer, disadvantaged youths, willing to work and anxious to earn money, have been organized by Youth Employment Service (YES). They will gather at centers scattered about the city. A phone call will bring however many you need to your home or business.

The number to call is 471-2731. It's a way of helping a deserving youngster — and yourself.

Crime rates are declining in Washington and in some other cities. Dr. Robert DuPont, Jr., one of the nation's leading authorities on drug abuse treatment, sees signs that heroin use in the nation's capital may have peaked. These two are closely aligned, as half of all street crimes in our major cities are committed by drug addicts.

The Justice Department has created a special office for catching heroin traffickers, rather than addicts. President Nixon recently established a "hotline" in Washington for obtaining anonymous tips on drug peddlers. More than 1,000 calls were received during the first three days.

It is important that the number be familiar to everyone. To dial it from any place in the nation, the number is 800-368-5363. There is no charge for calling the number, and information can be given without revealing the caller's name.

No one, not even our children, are immune from the danger of exposure to drugs. The hotline is a way for everyone to join in the battle against such a major national problem. Your cooperation is needed.

DALLAS (AP) — If there ever was a time and place for a woman's personality to burst into full bloom, it was in the Old West.

And bloom some women did, often to the aggravation of men, particularly sheriffs.

The truly free spirits were the young women who headed West to find adventure, a husband and wealth — all three in one package if possible.

A short list of the more notable of these women would include Flora Quick, Ann Bassett Willis, Belle Starr, Dona Tules, Calamity Jane, Poker Alice Tubbs, and, in a somewhat different subculture, Molly Brown.

These women — you hesitate to call all of them ladies — are discussed in a new book, "Wily Women of the West," by Grace E. Ray of Oklahoma.

Perhaps the best known of the badwomen of the West was Myra Belle Shirley who went down in the history books as Belle Starr.

Some of her more noted associates were the Younger Brothers Gang and the Jesse James crowd.

Belle was accused of many crimes, including murder, but the only thing that can be authenticated even hazily is horse stealing. She was assassinated as she rode toward home — killed by a blast of buckshot in the back.

Outside the ranching culture was a red - haired girl named Maggie Tobin. She went West as a hash slinger and married Leadville Johnny Brown, who became a multimillionaire when he discovered gold.

They moved to Denver and built a mansion amid the homes of what was called the "Sacred Thirty-Six" of Denver society and wealth.

She was not accepted for a number of reasons, one being that she was uneducated and unmannered.

Maggie set out to rectify that. She studied hard and soon was a member of Paris society.

The rough edges worn off, she settled in Newport, was listed in the Social Index and associated with the Astors, Whitneys and Vanderbilts. They particularly loved the way she could tell a story.

Yet she would have been a nonentity today had she not been aboard the Titanic when it hit an iceberg April 15, 1912.

The passengers had been brainwashed about the boat's unsinkability and most women and children refused to get into lifeboats.

Maggie — young, strong and sometimes domineering — went about the deck, shoving women and kids into lifeboats, screaming at them, and generally made herself a heroine.

When the rescue liner, the Carpathia, landed in New York, Maggie, who had a lusty way with words, told a reporter airily, "I'm unsinkable."

So now you know who she has become in legend, fact, song and theater.

She was "The Unsinkable Molly Brown."

REVERSAL IN RICHMOND

Efforts to integrate the public schools, however admirable the intentions, at times have raised serious questions about the powers of the federal courts to regulate the lives of citizens and direct the actions of local and state governments. The Richmond, Va., school order, which would have bridged political boundaries to consolidate three school systems, has been a major example of this issue.

In reversing the order Tuesday, the Fourth Circuit Court of Appeals ruled that the district judge had exceeded his authority. While the judge took extreme measures to enforce the equal protection clause of the 14th Amendment, the court said, he did not have sufficient consideration to the principle of federalism in the 10th Amendment.

Can a federal court compel a state to restructure its internal government for the purpose of integration? That is a constitutional question that will have to be answered by the United States Supreme Court. But, if such authority is finally upheld, it could open up some revolutionary areas for court involvement.

Consolidation, itself, is often desirable for many reasons. In education, the process has been going on for years, especially in rural areas, to create financially stronger and administratively more efficient school systems. Other governmental agencies have pressed for mergers to achieve the same goals. This was the thrust of the movement to consolidate Memphis and Shelby County last summer.

But these proposals were voluntarily approved or rejected by the voters and officials who would be affected. It would be a much different thing — a radical departure from American tradition — if administrative or political boundaries could be eliminated without local consent. What other purposes than integration might be found to justify such federal encroachment? When would state lines become violable?

One purpose might be more equitable financing of public education. Courts in California and Texas have ruled that the property tax is a discriminatory source of school revenues because it makes the quality of education that a child receives dependent on where he lives. Poor school districts can't match the per-pupil expenditures of wealthier districts. The Supreme Court has agreed to hear an appeal of the Texas ruling.

Despite the potential that consolidation may have for solving a variety of governmental and educational problems, however, the question remains of whether or at what point the options of local control should be revoked.

The final outcome of the Richmond case is likely to affect similar cases in Detroit and Grand Rapids, Mich., Dayton, Ohio; Hartford, Conn.; Indianapolis and Atlanta. It will determine whether consolidation lawsuits will be filed in many other cities across the country. It will stop, modify or stimulate one of the most far- reaching developments in the history of American public education.

As far as desegregation is concerned, the problem that consolidation addresses is admittedly most difficult. In many urban areas, consolidation offers the only feasible route to total school integration. While the Supreme Court will have to decide the issue on constitutional grounds, which cannot be corrupted by matters of convenience or popular opinion, we hope that the court will not have to restrict any constitutional right in order to protect one.

It was Jimmy's first experience at summer camp and his parents could hardly wait for his first letter.

When the note came it was short and to the point:

Dear Folks:

"Please send me some food packages. All we get up here is breakfast, lunch and dinner."

"Jimmy."

ESCAPING THE PEASANT CLASS

In Russia, it is said that there are only 14 million people who are members of the Communist Party. They constitute an elite political group which organizes and controls the entire Soviet system. A newspaper the Brookville, Pennsulvania, American, comments, "...according to competent experts, at least one half of the 14-million 'partly members' in the Soviet Union are not communists at all, in the ideological sense, but are members of the 'Party' because it is the only way to get a decent apartment, an automobile, a living wage, and other 'luxuries' which are denied to the workers and peasants in the U. S. S. R."

With congressional salaries going through the roof and other perquisites of public office soaring here in the U. S., it is a good bet that expediency rather than high idealism leads many with soft convictions into any sort of "public service" job available. Apparently the cloak of public service is preferred to the cloak of peasantry, even in the United States. It's no wonder. U. S. taxpayer are being reduced closer to the level of peasants with each passing year.

STALINISM LIVES

Alexander Solzhenitsyn's "One Day in the Life of Ivan Denisovich" graphically describes sub-human conditions in Soviet slave labors camps under Stalin. Farleftists claim that "de-Stalinization" has brought an end to such barbarities, but a news story in London Times publicized here by "Human Events" shows that little has changed in Soviet Russia except the leaders' names.

The Times reported in late December that several political prisoners in the Mordivinin labor camp had appealed to the International Red Cross, protesting a system aimed at "gradually transforming a person into an unthinking, intimidated and obedient animal."

Two evils were singled out. One was delibertate starvation of those prisoners who would not allow themselves to become "Intimidated and obedient." The authorities would withhold half the legal minimum of food calories, with serious illness the result.

The signers of the appeal also protested the uncivilized state of medical care. Medical supplies were almost totally lacking, there were no first aid facilities and doctors would deliberately make the wrong diagnosis in order to deprive the uncooperative prisoner of proper care.

The signers of this appeal knew that they faced retaliation for their action, but courageously went ahead. One of the signers was Simas Kudirka, the Lithuanian seaman who tried to defect to our country in 1970, but was sent back to Soviet authorities by the U.S. Coast Guard. Clearly Kudirka has retained all of the bravery which prompted his attempted escape from slavery.

If President Nixon is eager to talk to Soviet slavemasters, he should bring up the subject of barbarous treatment of political prisoners.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON — President Nixon's political operators, as befitting politicians with a multimillion-dollar kitty, are campaigning in style.

They travel first class, stay at the most fashionable hotels, dine at the most elegant restaurants and smoke the finest cigars.

Their expense accounts for April and May show they spent $34,631 on commercial flights, $6,318 for chartered planes and another $3,714 for the use of government planes.

In New York City, of course, they stayed at the Waldorf-Astoria. The bill for only three visits was $2,985. Their favorite spot in Florida was the Boca Raton Club, a watering hole for millionaires.

Bills were also submitted from the Bay Hill Club and Lodge, Orlando, Fla.; Canyon Hotel, Palm Springs, Calif.; Century Plaza, Los Angeles; Del Webb Townhouse, Phoenix, Ariz., and Four Ambassadors Hotel, Miami.

The President's fund raisers wined and dined prospective contributiors at Washington's fanciest eateries. One luncheon tab at the Gramercy Inn came to $1,300. They also downed $983 worth of French cuisine prepared by the fashionable Avignone Freres.

And, on a trip to New Orleans, they feasted at La Ruth's and charged the $245 check to the campaign.

WHITE HOUSE PARTIES

The cheapest place to entertain wealthy backers, apparently, is the White House. However, for their April 19 reception, the Republican Finance Committee fully reimbursed the White House fund with $159.

This wasn't the first time the President has used the White House to fatten the Republican campaign chest. On an earlier occasion, several Illinois millionaires were invited to the White House for dinner with the President. He made a few pleasant remarks, then discreetly disappeared while they had their arms twisted over after-dinner drinks and cigars.

The President's fund raisers, incidentally, collected over $10 million from unidentified contributors before a new law went into effect on April 7 requiring that all political donors be named.

Phony campaign committees were set up in Washington to receive the donations and more than 200 bank accounts were opened to hold all the cash.

Meanwhile, the Democrats are strapped for cash. Senator Hubert Humphrey, D-Minn., has gone $1 million in debt, and Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., has also spent more than he managed to take in.

O'BRIEN'S EXPENSES

Democratic National Chairman Larry O'Brien, as a gesture to the bankrupt Democrats, is serving without a salary. His sacrifice is more apparent, however, than real.

Virtually all of his personal expenses are paid by the party. He is provided with a chauffeur-driven car; his rent at the plush Sheraton Park apartments is paid; and he also eats at the best restaurants in town - all courtesy of the Democratic National Committee.

His air travel bills are charged to the party, often including tickets for his wife. Not long ago, O'Brien and his wife and two aides, one of them a secretary, flew first class from New York to San Juan, Puerto Rico.

After several days in the sun, they caught a plane to Chicago. But Mrs. O'Brien continued on to Aspen, Colo., for some time on the ski slopes.

Democratic officials insist that Mrs. O'Brien's fare to Colorado will be paid by her husband personally. She only travels with her husband at party expense, they say, when her presence is needed for official functions.

Republican officials say only that their expenses are all "legitimate," and that they "have reported them in detail as required by law."

But contributors, who are being asked to pony up for the candidate of their choice, might wonder.

WASHINGTON WHIRL

Shaffer's $13 Claim -- John Shaffer, the gallivanting administrator of the Federal Aviation Administration, logs 150,000 miles a year in the skies he polices. He has never suffered any injuries or accidents as a result of official air travel. But he stepped into his chauffeur-driven government car some months ago, bumped his shoulder on the edge of the door, and tore a two-inch gash in his coat. Shaffer, who makes $42,500 a year, had his coat reweaved and applied for $13 damage claim against the government.

Headlines and Footnotes -- The word from Moscow is that the Kremlin considers President Nixon a sure bet to win re-election in November. This is one reason Leonid Brezhnev, the party chief, laid out the Red carpet for him in Moscow....The President has cautioned Henry Kissinger and other aides, who may be dealing with both the Soviets and Chinese, to keep their stories straight. The President doesn't want them saying one thing to Moscow, another to Peking.... Nixon is eager to bring two or three thousand Soviet scientists doctors and intellectuals to the United States to study. He believes they will go home with favorable impression that will help avert misunderstandings in the future.

Pillaging the Poor: Probers Believe Misused and Stolen Poverty Funds Now total $2 billion annually

WASHINGTON — One investigator, with whom I've been digging for months into the fantastic theft and misuse of the people's money being dumped into the vast "poverty" pork barrel, went stuporous when he heard that some Congressmen are asking for an additional billion dollars to finance "the struggle."

"If we stop the wholesale thievery, the looting, the fraud, the inefficiency and the money dispensers' disinterestedness," he said grimly, "we could save the government and the states twice that each year."

He was saying that about $2 billion a year is wasted or stolen in the hundred-faceted fight on poverty. Given a series of flying squads of auditors he said he could prove this in a year.

There are tens of thousands of pay out offices to probe. For example, Connecticut Welfare Commissioner Henry White told me recently that one welfare "client" had cost the state $100,000 in one year, two others had cost $50,000 and, said he, "we have plenty of $25,000 -ers." Certainly this is merely a penny on the drum. But these pennies add up.

There is, for example, before we get into the billion dollar wastage, $997,000 which could have been saved by the Medicare program if such items as wheel chairs, portable bedside toilets, and "walkers" had been purchased instead of rented. This was turned up in a five-state General Accounting Office (GAO) probe. One patient rented a trapeze bar hospital bed for nearly four years. Rental charges, $1,996. The bed could have been bought for $318. And there is similar abuse, or collusion, in many of the other 45 states.

As for the big money, there is the $3.3 billion (fiscal 1971) program to employ disadvantaged persons in the Federal government.

Tragedy here is that no one really knows how much of this money is well spent on the well deserving, the truly hungry, crippled, illiterate and helpless of the Dostoyevskian "lumpen" proletariat in the barrios and hard-core ghettos of our big cities.

No one knows just how much is looted or wasted on pork barrel telephone calls from a hack district leader asking to have some party worker put on "some list, any list so long as he gets a check."

here just isn't any viable eligibility control system. The GAP reports that much of this is due to the U.S. Civil Service Commission policy which prevents investigation of family size and income of the applicant's claim for disadvantaged status. Demand for such information would be an unwarranted invasion of privacy, the Commission has ruled. Yet a $3.3 billion annual program depends on just such information.

And there is what the professionals call "AFDC" --Aid to Families With Dependent Children. I have been told of hundreds of millions of misspent and looted dollars in this arena alone. There are 2.7 million families in the program. And 1.9 million receive Federal aid because of missing fathers. The GAO was able, in Pennsylvania for example, to trace the father in 92 per cent of the cases of this sort. But the investigators found only 13 per cent "making support payments." though a tremendous number of additional fathers could have done so.

That's just one state.. In no state probed by the GAO were 50 per cent of the fathers who could pay to help their own children paying anything. That's fraud and worse.

And then there is the $2 billion annual federal-state social service assist program for welfare recipients. This is in addition to the cash payout expenditures -- known as "the check."

The GAO soon will probe the program in a sample set of five states-- especially California. This program supplies money, advice and assistance to the impoverished and helpless to bring them "to a state of self-dependency." There is counseling on how to budget income, on housing, onfinding a job, and aid on managing a home, (homemaker service which literally supplies social workers to act as maids).

There has just been no overall survey. So the GAO will see what this nation, and the truly poor, are getting for the $2 billion. Are they becoming less or more dependent? Is the money going to the helpless who generally get shunted aside by the slippery? Or are they getting more dependent? No one knows.

And I am not bringing in the biggest welfare and poverty pork barrel of all-- New York City. There, the state Welfare Inspector General, philanthropist and retired businessman George Berlinger, says he believes that "at least a billion dollars a year" has been wasted and looted in the past five years.

The poor aren't stealing it. Who is?

Airline Operations Resume After Strike

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Flight operations returned to normal today after a one-day worldwide strike by pilots pressing demands for tighter airport security against hijackers. A preliminary estimate put the airlines' losses at $65 million.

At the United Nations, Security Council members, spurred by the walkout that halted much or all of the air travel in 30 countries, met privately for three hours Monday and were reported near agreement today on some action against plane hijackings.

A spokesman for the striking pilots said in London that he was disappointed that American pilots, who were among the instigators of the stoppage, were prevented by a federal injunction from joining the international protest. The pilots of two U.S. airlines ignored the court order and refused to fly.

In New York, Security Council President Lazar Mojsov of Yugoslavia said after Monday's meeting that only a few points remained to be settled in a proposed statement condemning hijacking and that agreement would "probably" come today.

The statement would call upon all nations to prevent hijacking and ensure prosecution of air pirates, it was reported.

The strike was called by the International Federation of Airline Pilots Associations— IFALPA—to dramatize demands for tougher action against airline hijackers. In addition to the U.N. discussions there was one other development during the day.

The International Civil Aviation Organization in Montreal announced it had taken steps to permit member nations to impose sanctions against countries that cooperate with hijackers and extortionists.

The nature of the sanctions was not disclosed but a spokesman said approval of the measure was nearly unanimous. The ICAO is a United Nations-related body composed of government representatives of 124 countries, dealing with problems affecting commercial aviation.

An IFALPA spokesman said in London that the group believed the pilots had made their point with the strike and that "really effective measures against hijacking" were on the way.

John J. O'Donnell, president of the Airline Pilots Association in the United States, said the attempt to shut down domestic service had accomplished a major objective despite the fact that only two lines—Northeast and Eastern—were halted for the day. Southern wad shut down for a few hours.

Boys Post Given To Girardean

WARRENSBURG, Mo. (AP) — Delegates to Missouri Boys State divided into two parties for state conventions today, and they will be voting Wednesday in primary elections.

The Federalist and Nationalist parties heard brief speeches from high school boys who are running for the State's six elective offices and seven seats on the Supreme Court. The week-long workshop in government is sponsored by the American Legion and is being held at Central Missouri State College.

Today's state conventions also put together party platforms.

Mike Rosenthal of Cape Girardeau was elected chairman of the Federalists' state committee and also served as chairman of their convention. Steve Snyder of Creve Coeur was named secretary of both the state committee and the convention. Greg Tobin of Independence was vice chairman of the committee, and Steve Blaha of St. Louis was vice chairman of the convention. Kevin Hopkins of Blue Springs was treasurer of the state committee.

The Nationalists elected Dick Warris of St. Joseph as chairman of their state committee and their state convention. Bob Guest of Manchester was named vice chairman of the committee and secretary of the convention. Steve Stout of Hannibal was secretary of the state committee.

The state committees had the job of proposing platforms and settling any disputes over credentials and convention rules.

China Ports Shut To Soviet Ships

By ARTHUR L. GAVSHON

LONDON (AP) -- China has closed its southern ports to Soviet Ships with supplies for North Vietnam but is still allowing ships from other Communist countries to land supplies for Hanoi, authorities in touch with both Peking and Moscow reported today.

Peking's reason, according to informants putting out the Chinese line, is that the Soviets are unwilling to risk their new relationship with the United States by challenging President Nixon's mining of North Vietnam's ports.

Moscow's version, as told by diplomates from Soviet bloc countries, is that the Chinese are easing up on their support for the North Vietnamese in favor of a more flexible international policy.

The U.S. mining of North Vietnam's ports has been condemned by both Peking and Moscow as illegal interference with navigation on the high seas. Informants in touch with the Chinese say Peking considers that Moscow has the obligation to challenge the mining, and that failure to do so implies tacit acceptance.

The Chinese reportedly argue that the Soviet Union has the means and the equipment with which to foil the American mining while China does not. In Peking's view, therefore, Moscow's failure to accept the challenge can only mean that its relationship with Washington is deemed to transcend its responsibility to Hanoi.

The informants say that as Peking sees it, the smaller East European countries lack the power to challenge the Americans, therefore their cargoes for Hanoi are being accepted in Chinese ports.

For their part, the Russians reportedly contend that Peking's attitude is consistent with other signs suggesting China is moving away from its obligation to help Hanoi. This is cited as one of the factors that has led Moscow to help in the search for a political settlement of the Vietnam War.

Bus King Announces Campaign Cutback

CLAYTON, MO. (AP)-- State Rep. R.J. "Bus" King announced this morning that he is cutting back on his campaigning for the GOP gubernatorial nomination because of a lack of funds.

King said he is not offcially withdrawing from the race, but will close his campaign offices, release his staff and make only local appearances between now and the Aug. 8 primary election.

The closing down of the King campaign is expected to help two other younger candidates for the GOP nomination, Chrisopher "Kit" Bond, state auditor, and Gene McNary, prosecutor of St. Louis County.

Mayors Hear McGovern, Muskie, and Humphrey

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Hubert H. Humphrey proposed today that mayors get a role in the federal budget process. George McGovern promised to restore faith in government. Edmund S. Muskie said President Nixon's foreign policy postpones relief for the cities.

The three senators, all seeking the Democratic presidential nomination, addressed the mayors and representatives of 350 cities at the U.S. Conference of Mayors annual meeting.

The candidates outlined their remedies for city problems to an audience that contained a number of mayors critical of them for not addressing urban problems more fequently.

On his first campaign swing since he dropped out of the primaries, Muskie of Maine led off with criticism of Nixon's foreign policy.

In his prepared remarks, Muskie said, "It is ironic that our national government, which insists on winning, or creating the illusion of winning, a war 10,000 miles away, seems willing to surrender our nation's cities without a struggle."

He said that despite Nixon's strategic arms limitation agreements with the Soviet Union, the Pentagon budget requests are "already up $13 billion from what was appropriated last year."

These developments, Muskie said, "put the hopes for relief of our cities just that much farther away."

In his prepared text, Humphrey of Minnesota proposed that local, state and county officials be included in the federal government's budget process through a system of budget hearings around the country by the federal Office of Management and Budget and major departments of the federal government.

"Right now, mayors and city officials, supervisors, city managers, county officials, governors and the people are closed out of the federal government's budget processes," Humphrey said.

"Decisions are made every day about your city by faceless bureaucrats in Washington. You are seldom consulted. Your true needs are often ignored. You and the people end up living with decisions you had no part in making," Humphrey said.

McGovern of South Dakota said in his prepared remarks, "Tens of millions of Americans have lost faith in government. We need leadership in Washington that will convince the average citizen of our cities that his government is being run for his benefit and is working to make his life better."

Bicycle-Auto Mishap Causes Minor Injuries

DEXTER — Randy Riley, 11, received minor injuries Monday at 2:45 p.m. when he rode his bicycle into the side of a car driven by Jane D. Davis of Dexter.

The boy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. David Medlin, also of Dexter.

According to police, the Davis car halted at a four-way stop at Stoddard and Walnut streets, then proceeded through the intersection when the Riley boy rode into the side of the car. He was taken to a local physician, treated for cuts and scratches and released.

Home In Risco Area Burglarized

RISCO — The David Johnson home, four and one-half miles north of here, was burglarized sometime between Wednesday and Sunday night while the family was away.

Items reported stolen include a stereo set, 50- piece cookware set, 25- piece silverware set, bedspread, two table lamps, and a three and one- half horsepower outboard motor.

Deputy Sheriff Bo Wingo said a back door latch was knocked off and the door kicked in to gain entry. A suspect is in custody for investigation.

Scott Banks Not Getting Fair Share, Morris Charges

Scott County banks should be receiving a higher percentage of state funds, L.E. Morris of Jefferson City charged today in a statement to The Daily Standard.

He pledged to ask the legislature to enact laws whereby every pennny of the stater revenue of all department would come through the treasurers office. Under his proposal, no monies would be taken out of the state, such as government bonds, but would remain in the state and invested in the banks of Missouri. Every county would share equally percapita.

Morris, a candidate for the Democratic nomination for state treasurer, said Scott County has a population of 33,250, which is .7107 per cent of the state population.

"This percentage will determine the amount of money to be placed in your county banks, and as of 1970-71 fiscal year should run around $948,267. You are not getting it.

Scott County has seven banks. The county now has $165,000 in state funds.

"Your share should be $948,267 or approximately $135,467 for each of your banks," Morris said. "As far as I am concerned Scott County is $783,268 short and multiplying this by five is a loss of $3,916,335 in the economy of your community. Every businessman and banker will tell you that every dollar invested in a community will produce five times that amount in the economy.

"I am only interested in getting Scott County their fair share, as well as all the other counties, their tax monies, back to the county where it came from and not to a few counties trying to hog it all, making millionaires of themselves at the expense of the miseries of the poor. Scott County has two banks with state funds. Five banks have none," Morris declared.

Ann Landers

Telephone Operators Too Busy To Eavesdrop

Dear Ann Landers: I'm middle-aged, middle-class, born and raised in a small town, but now I live in Cincinnati. I'm what you'd call Mrs. Middle America.

My husband and I live in a quadrangle. There are eight families in this compound and six of them have dogs. We do not. Neither my husband nor I had a dog when we were children. Perhaps this explains my ignorance, but I can't figure out why people go to so much trouble, not to mention the expense.

During the winter our neighbors slog through the snow in below - zero weather to walk their mutts. All summer, I see these same idiots driving pets to the veterinarians for grooming and shots. Whe. a dog is sick it's just like a child. They stay up all night to give the animal medicine.

One of our neighbors went to the expense of having her dog driven to Florida because he had ear trouble and couldn't fly. That dog had a mink coat and hat. Fifty million Americans can't be crazy. What's the answer? Why do they bother? --- The Rugs In My Home Are Beautiful.

Hello Beautiful: Some behavioral authorities say that a dog offers middle-aged and older people permanent parenthood. No matter how old the dog gets he still needs to be fed, bathed, and combed and petted. Children grow up and become independent (and often rebellious), but when a dog is trained he is obedient and respectful and he stays that way.

Best of all, when you come home from a hard day's work, some members of the family bark at you --- but your dog wags his tail and lets you know he's glad you are home.

Dear Ann Landers: I know I speak for thousands of people across this great land of ours --- and I hope you will be good enough to print my letter.

I am fed up with nosey switchboard operators who make a hobby of listening in on private telephone calls. It so happens that I am not leading a double life, I have nothing to hide, and I have never said anything on the phone that I wish I hadn't. All the same, it's pretty darned annoying to know that some nosey broad can amuse herself by listening in on my personal conversations.

Since everyone reads your column I hope you will print this letter. Those operators who are guilty will know I mean them and maybe they will lay off. ---Lover Of Privacy

Dear Lover: Most switchboard operators need two more hands, four more ears and another mouth to keep up with the demanding job. They couldn't care less about private conversations. Granted, there might be one or two Nosey Nora's in the crowd, but the vast majority of switchboard operators are too busy for eavesdropping.

Dear Ann Landers: You have said in your column that divorced children have no right to expect their parents to take care of them indefinitely --- that a temporary "helping hand" is O.K. but moving in and acting like an adolescent after a marriage collapses is for the birds. What about a mother-in-law who at the age of 48 files for divorce and wants to move in with her son and his wife?

I like my mother-in-law very much and in my opinion she should have left her husband years ago, but I don't want her living with us. My husband has told me the decision is mine --- he'll agree to anything I decide. This means I have to accept full responsibility for a negative answer. What should I do? --- Scairdy Kat

Dear Kat: Say no on the grounds that she should have her own place --- even if it's a rented room --- where SHE can be boss.

What's the story on pot, L.S.D., cocaine, uppers and downers, speed? Can you handle it if you're careful? Send for Ann Landers' new booklet, "Straight Dope on Drugs." For each booklet ordered send a dollar bill, plus a long self-addressed stamped envelope (16 cents postage) to Ann Landers, Box 3346, Chicago, Ill. 60654.

APPEARING IN Little Theatre's production of the comedy, "Never Too Late," will be, from left, Betty Harris, Thedamay Cleek and Lee Crites. The show will be staged Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights at 8 p.m. in the Activity Center.

Bennett-Hays

MALDEN — The wedding of Miss Dorothy Jean Hays and Robert Eugene Bennett was solemnized May 27 at Grace Lutheran Church. The Rev. Alvin H. Lange performed the double- ring ceremony.

The bride is daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Hays of Malden, and parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Ray G. Bennett of Cape Girardeau.

Mrs. K. W. Riley, organist, provided the program of prenuptial music and accompanied Miss Mary Jean Riley as she sang "Oh Perfect Love."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of sheer- ganza nad Venice lace. The fitted bodice featured a high neckline and short puffed sleeves banded in lace. The A-line silhouette skirt ended in a wide ruffled flounce which was trimmed with lace motifs.

A profile cap of lace held secure her chapel- length mantilla of imported illusion which was bordered with matching lace and she carried a colonial bouquet of red roses.

Mrs. Joyce Drew of Poplar Bluff, sister of the bride, was the matron of honor and the bridesmaids were Miss Judy Woodruff of Bourbon, Miss Linda Strelow of St. Louis and Miss Joan Hays, sister of the bride.

The bridegroom chose his brother, Harvey Bennett of Sulphur, La., to serve as best man. Wynn Bolinger and Jerry Snell of Cape Girardeau and David Roth of Belleville, Ill., brother- in- law of the bride, were groomsmen, and Billy Hays, brother of the bride, served as usher and candlelighter.

A reception was held immediately after the ceremony in the home of the bride's parents.

Miss Marlene Luecker of Parma and Miss Judy Barton of Cape Girardeau served the guests and Miss Lueker had charge of the guest book.

The bride, a graduate of Malden High School, graduated from Southeast Missouri State College at Cape Girardeau in May. She will continue her education at Concordia Teachers College at Seward.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Central High School in Cape Girardeau and attended State College. He also will be a student at Concordia College in Seward.

Out- of- town guests for the wedding included: Mrs. Harvey Bennett of Sulphur, La.; Mrs. Leola Doeling of Steelville, Ill.; Mrs. Kelly Gaither and Mrs. David Roth and children of Belleville, Ill.; Mrs. Louis Fowler and Mary of Bloomfield; Mrs. Louise Lueker and Marlene of Parma; Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Drew of Qulin; Miss Pam Gempel of Charleston; Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Woodruff of Bourbon, Mo.; Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Greisel and children of Neosho; Mrs. Clara Pfenninghausen of Portageville; Ken Lentz of Mounds, Ill.; Trudy Barton, Jim Rhode, Miss Beth Schmucker, Linda Kinsey, Barbara Sadler, Gary Sadler, Bob Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Stan Snell and Mrs. Marilyn Gaither all of Cape Girardeau, and Miss Linda Schwartzmeyer and Miss Heidi Slegmann of St. Louis.

Rainwater-Henry

BLOOMFIELD — Janet B. Henry of Bloomfield became the bride of Robert D. Rainwater of Puxico at 2 p.m. June 10, in the General Baptist Church.

Miss Henry is daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Henry of Bloomfield and Rainwater is son of the Rev. and Mrs. W. R. Rainwater of Puxico Route Two.

Ray Duffey performed the double ring ceremony before an altar with the center arch candelabra entwined with greenery, blue candles with blue bows and baskets of white and blue mums on each side.

Miss Patricia Ross, pianist, played "Theme From Love Story," "Theme From Romeo And Juliet," "More," and "One Hand, One Heart." Terry Bowling, vocalist, sang "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white crepe, floorlength gown with long full sleeves, with wide cuffs and a high neckline with standup collar. The empire waistline was slightly gathered. Her bridal veil was attached to a full length train, accented with white lace trim attached to a white bow head piece. Her bridal bouquet was a cascade of white daisies.

Miss Lavern Capps of Dexter was maid of honor.

Marvin Rainwater, served as best man. Stephen Henry, brother of the bride, was the candlelighter and also served as usher with Dale Worley.

Mrs. DeWayne Shipman was at the guest book.

Serving at the reception were Mrs. DeWayne Shipman, Mrs. John Jenkins, Mrs. Paul Cannon and Miss Kay Rainwater.

The bride is a graduate of Bloomfield High School and Southeast Missouri State College, Cape Girardeau, and is teaching in the elementary school in Bloomfield.

The groom is a graduate of Greenville high school and has spent four years in the Navy. He is attending Southeast Missouri State College and is serving as pastor of BrushCreek Missionary Baptist Church.

Miss Duke Married To Michael Lynn

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Alan Lynn

Lighted tapers and arrangements of white snapdragons and daisies decorated the altar of North Acres General Baptist Church for the marriage of Marsha Lynne Duke and Michael Alan Lynn June 10 at 7 p.m. The Rev. Lester Clayton, pastor, performed the double-ring ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Buddy Duke of Paducah, Ky., are parents of the bride, and Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Lynn of Sikeston are parents of the groom.

Pre-nuptial music was provided by Mrs. Steve Shell, who also accompanied Bill Myers, soloist. The first selection, "Each for the Other," was rendered after the candles were lighted by Miss Jennifer Duke, sister of the bride who was gowned in blue. "The Wedding Prayer," was sung at the end of the ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a formal gown of oyster shell satin overlaid with re-embroidered lace which feature a Victorian neckline and fitted bodice that opened to the empire waist. Tiny satin-covered buttons and loop closures lined the front of the bodice. Dainty lace framed the high collar which buttoned in the front. Long bishop sleeves of lace were cuffed with satin and lace and the button and loop closures were accented by dainty lace edging. A satin bias band trimmed the empire waist. The long detachable train was of satin and lace.

Her three-tiered, elbow-length veil of illusion was attached to a headpiece of pearl-encrusted lace. The bridal bouquet was of white daisies and baby's breath, centered with white sweetheart roses and white streamers tied in lover's knots. The gown was fashioned by the bride's mother.

The bride was preceded down the aisle by Miss Becky Thomason, of Charleston, cousin of the groom who was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Paul Schiwitz, sister of the groom, Sikeston; and Miss Laura Duke, sister of the bride. Miss Stephanie Myers was the flower girl.

The attendants and flowergirl wore identical floor-length gowns of blue-flocked, floral-print dotted swiss lined with solid blue. The old-fashioned gowns were styled with empire waist, fitted bodice, blue ribbon sashes, high neckline and long puffed sleeves with wide cuffs. The headpieces were shoulder-legnth blue tulle falling from large blue bows with daisy trim. Each attendant carried a cnosegay of blue daisies and baby's breath and the flower girl carried a white basket filled with blue daisies.

Lynn chose as his best man, Joel Allen of Sikeston. Groomsmen were Joe Holt, Benton, and Paul Dollar, Sikeston. Ushers were Gary Houston, cousin of the bride, Festus , and Jimmy Rolwing, cousin of the groom, Charleston. The ringbearer was Ricky Lynn, cousin of the groom, Karnak, Ill.

Mrs. Duke, mother of the bride, wore a pale yellow floral dress with matching solid yellow coat. Her ensemble was complemented with beige accessories. Mrs. Lynn, mother of the groom, was attired in a blue dress with maching jacket with white accessories. Both mothers wore white rose corsages.

Grandmother of the bride, Mrs. Homer Humphrey and Mrs. Elbert Duke wore white rose corsages. Grandparents of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Thomason and Mrs. Clyde Lynn, Sr., also wore white roses and all were given places of honor for the ceremony.

Miss Cindy Davis, cousin of the bride, presided at the satin-covered guest table

The five tiered wedding cake cake was decorated with blue flowers, and topped with a miniature bride and groom. The cake was designed and baked by Mrs. Tyre Brown of Bell City. She, along with Mrs. John Davis, aunt of the bride, were in charge of the reception. Servers were Miss Sharon Morrow of Bertrand, Miss Janie Hodges of Charleston Mrs. Gary Houston of Festus, cousin of the bride, and Miss Linda Pobst, cousin of the groom, Commerce.

The reception room was decorated in the bride's color with the gift table being covered with a lace cloth over blue with wedding bells and blue streamers over the table. The bride's wedding bells and blue streamers over the table. The bride's table was covered with a white cloth, using crystal candelabra with blue tapers. The silver wedding knife was adorned with white net bow and daisy. The serving table was covered with white with accents of blue net, and the silver service and crystal punch bowl were placed there with silver candeholders and blue tapers.

Passing our rice bags during the reception were Misses Rhonda and Pam Davis , cousin of the bride.

The new Mrs. Lynn chose a monogrammed blue knit dress with long torso, full skirt, pleated sleeves and long matching vest, and white rose corsage for her going-away ensemble. After a short honeymoon trip to the Ozarks, the couple now live on Sikeston Route Two.

The rehearsal dinner was given at Midtowner Restaurant by the groom's parents June 9.

Golf Comments

By Riggs Wesley

SEMO Golf Association Secretary

Rodney Shell of Cape Girardeau and Mike Burke of St. Louis shot a joint effort of a 140 to top competition in the championship round of the June 17-18 Bloomfield Country Club Men's Four-Ball Tournament. Jerry Throgmorton and Jim Warf Jr., both of Sikeston, took second in the championship with a score of 141. Third place went to the team of Gene Dawson and Tom Dawson of Sikeston with a 143. Tom Wright and Earl Wilt took the upper hand in a sudden death playoff to win fourth with 144 points. The loss in the playoff went to the fifth place team of Jack Estes and David Agey of Dexter.

Teams in four other classes battled the 36 holes, but information on winners was unavailable.

Flood Strikes Out

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

For the third time in 50 years, the U.S. Supreme Court has refused to overturn baseball's unique status as the only sport exempt from antitrust laws.

The highest court in the land thus threw the matter back at a seemingly disinterested Congress, which has adopted none of the more than 50 bills introduced in the last two decades to change baseball's reserve system which binds a player to one team indefinitely.

In a 5-3 ruling Monday against a suit brought by former outfielder Curt Flood, the court's refusal to redefine the reserve clause raised the possibility of another and more massive general strike next spring than the one which delayed the start of the 1972 baseball season for more than a week.

"Technically, it is a subject for collective bargaining," said Richard Moss, counsel for the Major League Baseball Players Association. "But practically, it is the subject for a strike, a long strike. You either forget it or strike over it, and both are unfortunate courses."

The so-called basic agreement between players and owners expires Dec. 31, along with pension and health insurance agreements reached after the recent strike in April. The basic agreement covers minimum salary, expenses and many other rules.

One baseball executive, asking to remain unidentified, said, "I hope we're intelligent enough—players and management alike—to negotiate this before we're forced to do it."

That power rests with Congress. But Justice Harry A. Blackmun, delivering the Supreme Court's majority opinion, noted that Congress has had a long time to do something about it and said the fact that it did nothing indicates more than "mere Congressional silence and passivity."

In fact, he said, the Supreme Court "has concluded that Congress has had no intention to subject baseball's reserve system to the reach of the antitrust statutes."

Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn said the decision "opens the way for renewed collective bargaining on the reserve system following the 1972 season."

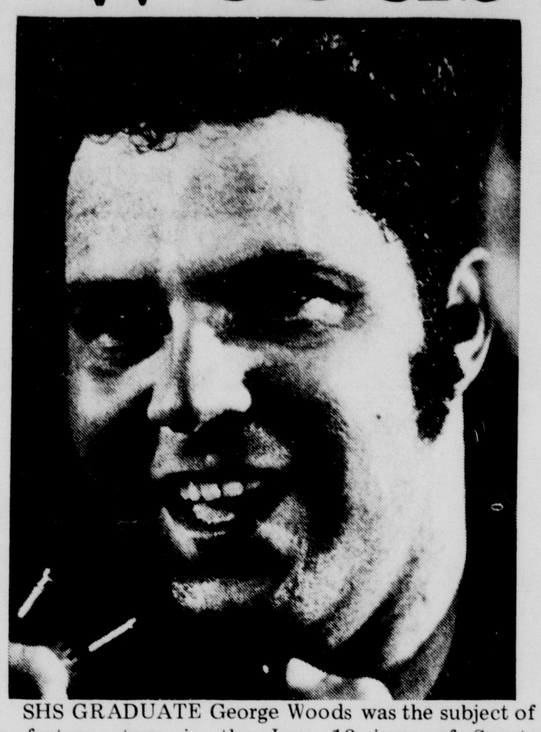

Exactly what the players want was expalined by Milt Pappas, player representative of the Chicago Cubs:

"The ruling doesn't make a lot of difference and the players were not looking to make utter chaos, which complete elimination of the reserve clause would do. However, some owners now have an idea how the players feel.

"What we are going to seek at the meeting table is an agreement that will give veteran players some freedom in negotiating.

Woods Searches For Gold

SHS GRADUATE George Woods was the subject of a feature story in the June 19 issue of Sports Illustrated.

George Woods, former Sikeston High School star athlete and a member of the 1968 United States Olympic team, is the subject of a feature story on track and field in the June 19 issue of Sports Illustrated.

Woods, who was a three-year grid letterman at SHS from 1958-60 and whose teams posted a 27-3 record through the period, returned to throwing the 16- pound ball after a series of injuries slowed the big 300- pounder.

The article compares the husky Missourian to the two top shot put throwers in the nation, Randy Matson and Al Feuerbach.

"People kept asking who Woods was. Finally I figured it was time to show them," Woods told Pat Putnam, author of the article.

Early this month the 29-year old admissions counselor at Southern Illinois Universitsity began his drive toward the Olympics by heaving the ball 70 feet, 1¾ inches, his career best. Only Matson, who has the world record of 71' 5½", and Feuerbach, who did 70' 3½" earlier this year, have also surpassed the 70-foot barrier.

Woods told Sports Illustrated that he was convinced that except for a wrist injury he would have beaten Matson in the '68 Olympics. In 1968 Woods had surged from 62 feet to 69 in practice and figured he had the gold medal wrapped up. Then he injured his wrist.

"Randy winning in Mexico City with a throw of only 67' 4¾" was a big disappointment to me," he said. "I had won the trials with a 68-footer, but I hurt my wrist weight lifting. During the trials I had a cortisone shot and the wrist was taped. At Mexico City the drug rule nixed the cortisone and everybody said I couldn't tape my wrist, so I didn't.

"Then in the Games some European comes in with tape and I asked an official what goes. He pulled out a doctor's certificate and said that's all the guy needed. It still galls me. Nobody, no doctors, no team manager told me that and they all knew how badly I needed my wrist taped.

"That sure put me in a good mood for the rest of the day. My first throw was 66' ¼". I skipped the second, my third was terrible and I passed two of my three throws in the finals. I'll have a doctor's certificate this time whether I want to use tape or not," Woods told Sports Illustrated.

After the Olympics, Woods gave up a shot for a try at pro football. He trimmed down to 275 pounds and he could run 40 yards in five seconds flat, but when the St. Louis Cardinals wanted him to be a defensive tackle they decided he was too short. He said forget it.

"Alex Karras was a pretty good defensive tackle and he was only 6-2," Woods said. "But even after football fell through, I didn't want any part of the shot put. I was too mentally exhausted. I just wanted to quit. Then last year the old hunger came back. That was before Feuerbach was known and I didn't want to have it too easy," Woods was quoted as saying to Putnam.

In his first 1971 meet, Woods injured a finger and was out for the year. But this year he has been nothing short of sensational. "Now it's just a race with the clock," he said. "The injuries are stacking up and I'm trying to hold myself together until after the Games. I don't want another silver medal. I intend to win the gold and then I'm going to hang it up and when my kids are big enough I'm going to point to it and show them the old man went out on top."

The following is a direct copy from Sports Illustrated:

Before Woods goes, there is still the matter of a gold medal and last weekend he more than proved his worth. At the Vons Classic he won over Matson (69' 6¼") and Feuerbach (69' 3¾") with a put of 70"¼", the only time in the history of the event that three men have exceeded 69 feet. "And it was a rotten throw," he said. "I was open and it was all arm speed." At the Kennedy Games, Woods won again, this time with a 69'½" to Feuerbach's 68'9¼" and Matson's 68'8¼".

"I guess you can say that Randy is back," said Feuerbach in Los Angeles after watching Matson get three throws over 69 feet. "He's going to be one tough hombre from now on." Feuerbach shook his head over his own performance. He had opened with a 67 plus, and except for his 69 and change, he hadn't done much better.

"Hey, Al," said Woods, "what's with the 67? Were you trying to psych me?"

"Well," said Feuerbach, "I had a plan. The first throw was supposed to be 67. Then I was going to add a foot onto each of the next five. Sixty- eight, 69, 70, 71 and then, boom, a big 72."

"What happened?"

Feuerbach laughed. "I forgot the plan."

Cards Washout

Rain stopped the San DiegoSt. Louis baseball game Monday night at St. Louis after two scoreless innings, making the second rain-out in a row for pitcher Bob Gibson.

Sports Brief

PROVO, Utah (AP) — Brigham Young University's star junior split end Golden Richards will not be playing football next year because he failed to meet the necessary academic standards.

Richards, a junior, led the nation in punt returns last season and tied an NCAA record for touchdowns by punt returns in one season with four.

NEW YORK (AP) — Jack Nicklaus, winner of the U.S. Open at Pebble Beach, Calif., this weekend, has opened a lead of nearly $60,000 over his nearest rival in professional golf's money-winning race, according to statistics released Monday by the PGA Tournament Players Division.

Nicklaus earned $30,000 for his three-stroke victory in the Open, boosting his year's total to $186,051. That's nearly $25,000 more than he had won at this point last year, when he set a money record of $244,490 for the year, and it's the highest figure ever recorded by any golfer through the Open.

Second on the money list—but a distant second—is Lee Trevino, who has earned $126,072. Jerry Heard is third with $114,528, George Archer fourth with $107,763 and Tom Weiskopf fifth with $103,429.

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — The New York Yankees blasted 14 hits but had to come from behind Monday night for an 11inning 8-6 victory over the Syracuse Chiefs, their International League farm club.

The Chiefs became the first International League team to lose to a parent club in exhibition baseball play this season.

The Chiefs took a 4-0 lead on Danny Walton's three-run homer.

Beware of Astros' Pitching!

The Pittsburgh Pirates blasted their way out of a rut Monday night, but the Houston Astros have found a groove they'd like to stay in.

The Pirates, shut out by San Diego 4-0 and 1-0 in their last two starts and scoreless for 23 innings, erupted for 16 hits—including home runs by Roberto Clemente, Gene Alley and Al Oliver—and pasted the Los Angeles Dodgers 13-3.

The Astros, meanwhile, got their second consecutive one-hit pitching performance when Larry Dierker limited New York to a lone single as Houston defeated the Mets 3-0 for the Astros' fifth straight victory.

As a result, Pittsburgh moved back into first place in the National League East by one-half game over the Mets, while the Astros pulled within a half-game of first-place Cincinnati in the NL West. The Reds were blanked by Montreal 2-0.

In the only other National League baseball action, the Chicago Cubs nipped San Francisco 7-6 in 11 innings. Philadelphia's game at Atlanta and San Diego's contest at St. Louis were rain ed out.

In the Ame rican League, Boston bombed Texas 12-0, California edged Baltimore 4-3 and Oakland beat Detroit 7-3. Cleveland's game at Minnesota was rained out, while the New York Yankees, Milwaukee, Kansas City and Chicago White Sox were not scheduled.

Oliver and Cl emente drove in three runs apiece for the Pirates, whose .284 team batting average is tops in the majors. The three RBI moved Clemente into first place on the all-time Pirate list with 1,275, two more than Hall of Famer Pie Traynor.

Pittsburgh ended its scoreless streak with two runs in the first inning off Don Stutton, 8-2— with both losses coming at the hands of the Pirates. The Bucs added three more runs in the fifth, one in the sixth, three in the seventh and four in the eighth.

"It really didn't matter who was pitching out there tongiht," declared Oliver. "This team is loaded with talent, confidence and pride, and it just wanted to show the people something."

Meanwhile, at the Astrodome, Dierker showed the Houston fans something, too, duplicating Jerry Reuss' one-hit effort against the Phillies Sunday. It was only the eighth time backto-back one-hitters have been pitched.

The lone safety off Dierker, 6-4, was a third inning single by Duffy Dyer.

Houston scored twice in the seventh on run-scoring singles by Lee May and Tommy Helms, then added another run in the ninth on another RBI single by May.

Montreal's Bill Stoneman shut out the Cincnnnati Reds on four singles, while Tim Foli and Ron Woods drove in the Expos' runs with sacrifice flies.

The Cubs posted their sixth straight victory and moved within 2 1/2 games of the lead in the NL East when Glenn Beckert doubled home Don Kessinger in the 11th inning. Jim Hickman and Ron Santo had two-run homers for the Cubs while Garry Maddox hit a three-run blast for the Giants.

Reggie Smith clouted two home runs and drove in five runs and Sonny Siebert hurled a three-hitter as Boston whipped Texas. Siebert, 7-3, had a no-hitter until Ted Kubiak hit a pinch-double leading off the sixth inning. Rico Petrocelli and Danny Cater also homered for Boston.

The Angels overtook the Orioles with three runs in the sixth inning on a two-run triple by Lee Stanton and an RBI single by Leo Cardenas. Bobby Grich hit a two-run homer for Baltimore while Ken McMullen homered for California.

Mike Epstein hit a pair of home runs, then drew a walk with the bases loaded in the eighth inning to force across the tie-breaking run for Oakland. Norm Cash hit his 15th homer of the season for the Tigers.

Torre Tops Vote

NEW YORK (AP) — Johnny Bench, the major league home run leader, has taken the lead for the catcher's spot in the National League voting for baseball's All-Star Game at Atlanta July 25.

Third baseman Joe Torre of St. Louis, first baseman Lee May of Houston, second baseman Glenn Beckert of the Chicago Cubs and shortstop Bud Harrelson of the Mets continue to top the voting for their positions. Torre had the most votes of any, 154,172.

The star of the Cincinnati Reds took over the No. 1 spot from Pittsburgh's catcher, Manny Sanguillen, in last week's balloting announced Monday by commissioner Bowie Kuhn.

Bench had a total of 130,823 votes to 88,868 for Sanguillen

The only other change came with Willie Mays of the New York Mets climbing to third place among the outfielders behind Hank Aaron of Atlanta and Roberto Clemente of Pittsburgh. Aaron leads with 153,400 votes. Clemente has 128,309 and Mays 107,178.

Little Leagues Continue Hectic Pace

Sikeston Secretarial Service

In a full night of baseball Monday night, all three Sikeston Little League divisions were busy at the Puckett, Farris and Ralph playing fields.

One hundred and thirty - three boys in the three Little Leagues saw action on the 12 teams that played.

Crowds at all parks were mediocre, but busy as ever as activities ran until about 11 p.m. at most parks.

In Musial league play, Todd Laundry and Collins Construction came away with wins. Todd utilized a 10-run first inning to coast past Rotary 13-11 in the opener. Collins collected the nightcap decision over Sikeston Standard in a 8-6 contest.

In American League play at Farris Field, Caproco downed Sealtest, 11-1 in the opening contest. Fabick in a come - from-behind effort, downed Ziegenhorn Insurance 12-9 in the final contest.

Lewis Furniture and A and B Leasing came away victors in National League battles at Puckett Field. Lewis blasted Security National, 10-1 in the opener, while A & B eased past Legion in the nightcap on a 5-2 note.

MUSICAL LEAGUE — In the opener, Todd Laundry collected five walks and dealt Rotary pitching four hits to score 10 runs in the opening frame. Todd added three more runs in the third and fought off Rotary's constant comeback bid and won the game 13-11.

Winning pitcher Williams checked the Rotary lineup on six hits, and connected for two of the Todd safeties, including a triple. Todd shortstop Bell went three for three at the plate.

Sanders opened on the mound and was relieved by Rotary's King who took the loss. Sanders and Kyle belted two safeties each.

In the nightcap the Collins catcher, Harper, belted a first inning home run that put the Construction squad into the lead. The Standard knotted the score at 2-all in the top half of the second frame but Collins regained the lead and went on to win 8-6.

Collins' Self went three for three and scored three runs for the winners. Harper, Butler and Dock blasted the Standard pitching for two hits each.

Sikeston Standard's McDonald knocked a double and a single to pace the losers at the plate. Long suffered the loss and McDowell gained the win from the mound.

AMERICAN LEAGUE — Caproco connected for 13 hits in the opener and blasted Sealtest, 11-1, behind the three-hit pitching of Marcum. Malcolm and catcher Griffin paced the Caproco lineup with three hits each. Four runs in each of the last two innings padded the earlier 3-1 lead over Sealtest. DeCota, Bar and losing pitcher Lane had the loser's only three hits.

In the second game played at Farris Field, Ziegenhorn botched an early 9-1 lead and fell victim to an 11-run comeback and a 12-9 Fabick victory. Ziegenhorn outhit the winners, 9-3, but handed the game to the eventual winners on errors.

Gator, Angle and Fulton paced the Ziegenhorn batters with two hits each. Lewis suffered the loss.

Launius picked up the win for Fabick, and joined teammates Keefer and Garrett to connect for the only three hits.

NATIONAL LEAGUE — Lewis Furniture pitcher Francis struck out 13 batsmen and held Security National Bank to five hits as Lewis picked up the opener at Puckett Field, 10-1. Lewis's Bohannon and Pollard each had three hits while shortstop David belted a four-thinning, two-run home run.

Losing pitcher K. Young connected for one of the five Bank hits. Hockersmith added a double to the cause.

Legion Hurler Lawrence struck out 14 batters, but lacked run-scoring backing and fell victim to A and B Leasing's 5-2 nightcap victory. A and B sent one runner home in each of the game's six innings except the fifth to build up the three-run lead. Errors hurt Legion as the winners' lineup was good for only two hits.

Watson picked up the five-hit win for A and B and Lawrence was handed the loss.

Stokes Throws 2-Hit Shutout

Kenny Stokes fired a two-hit shutout for David and Byrd in Monday night's Junior Babe Ruth play as his team dropped Nowell Real Estate, 2-0. Singles in the third and seventh innings marred the hurler's performance.

Stokes shut down the Nowell lineup on 13 strikeouts and saved the shutout with a last-inning third out on a play at the plate.

Home Materials jumped into an early 3-0 lead in the first two innings of play in the Junior division nightcap, and held Hart's Bread to a single run for a 4-1 victory. Winning pitcher Echols checked the Hart's Bread batters on 10 strikeouts and four hits.

In the opening game, Stokes proved to be the difference as the two runs Davis and Byrd scored in the second inning were all he needed to move Davis and Byrd into the winner's column. Catcher David Shell connected for three hits in the winner's lineup.

In the last game, Hart's Break outhit the winners, 4-3, but was unable to find the key to scoring runs. Echols went the distance for Home for the win from the mound. Jerrell and Thompson shared the pitching duties. Starter Jerrell suffered the loss on a three-hit performance.

K.C. Labor Group Backs Dowd

KANSAS CITY -- The political arm of the Greater Kansas City Central Labor Council, AFL-CIO has endorsed Edward L. Dowd for Governor. Announcement of the endorsement came from the office of executive secretary- treasurer of the council, Don E. Waterman.

The recommendation for endorsement came as a surprise for many political observers in Kansas City, as Dowd is opposed by two Kansas City Democrats seeking the nomination. Dowd leads a list of 43 candidates that have been recommended by the Committee on Political Education for labor's endorsement in the Kansas City area.

Dowd, a former St. Louis circuit attorney and FBI agent was endorsed last week when Communications Workers of America Local 6360 met in Lees Summit, Missouri. The Central Labor Council endorsement marks the second organized labor group to offer the support of the candidate in the Kansas City area.

IT'S NOT AS EASY AS IT LOOKS, apprentice bullfighter Carlos Escolar discovers in Madrid. As if the bull weren't enough of a problem, he apparently is in for it from another angle—his own sword, lower right.

HOW THE CHILDREN STOPPED THE WARS
by Jan Wahl
(Camelot ZN90/95c
96 pp.)

War is the sanguinary province of adults and so Jan Wahl imagines the day it all came to an end with his fable that explains HOW THE CHILDREN STOPPED THE WARS.

A young shepherd's father has been away fighting in battle for so long that it seems he must be dead. But to prevent that from actually happening, the boy devises a plan to bring warfare to a halt. Children by the hundreds join him on a dangerous journey to the battlefront where their great love reminds the fathers of the warmth and happiness they have forgotten as they have continued their savage wars.

Whimsical illustrations by Mitchell Miller accompany the story published in Avon's new large format Camelot Book line for the young reader.

"The book is written with grace and guile, a potent message ia fanciful disguise." -- Saturday Review

"Beautifully written - an important book that will stick in the minds of readers -- whatever their ages might be." -- McCall's

LINNETS AND VALERIANS
by Elizabeth Godge
(Camelot ZN91/95c
288pp.)

In Elizabeth Godge's LINNETS AND VALERIANS, all sorts of magical goings- on enrapture the four Linnet children. Living with their uncle after they had fled from their grandmother's disciplinary home, they meet the man who talks to bees and they also meet the nasty witch responsible for all the unpleasantnesses in the small English town. The witch had placed a spell on their neighbors, the Valerians, splitting the family apart. But through ingenious ploys and their desire to rebuild happiness where it no longer exists, the adventurous Linnets solve all the problems and succeed in cultivating joy.

LINNETS AND VALERIANS, named "An American Library Association Notable Book," is the first of Elizabeth Goudge's only two books for young readers to be published by Avon as large format Camelot Books. The second, THE LITTLE WHITE HORSE, will be published in the summer. Miss Goudge is the author of many adult bestsellers including GREEN DOLPHIN STREET and CHILD FROM THE SEA.

"Elizabeth Goudge is always young at heart, blending fantasy and fact with the sure touch of a born storyteller. An entrancing tale."
--The New York Times

What's The Law?

The Case Of The Cheerful Criminal

By Jack Strauss, LL. B.

Horace took life cheerfully. He rubbed out several people during a holdup attempt without the least bit of hestitation. And, after being tried for the crime, he was sentenced to be executed and, in fact, he was executed.

Shortly thereafter, Horace's widow appeared at the offices of an insurance company and demanded payment on an insurance policy that Horace had taken out on his life and in which he had named his wife as sole beneficiary.

"Taking out that policy," she told arepresentative of the insurance company, "was the only good thing Horace ever did."

"And, even that's no good," was the insurance company's answer. "Obviously, we can't pay off on the policy since it would be against the best interests of society to do so. If a man is executed for knocking off several people, he shouldn't be allowed to benefit from his wrongful act."

Sent away emtpy handed, Horace's widow took the matter to court where she demanded payment under the life policy.

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you order the insurance company to pay-off on cheerful Horace's life insurance policy.

This is how the judge ruled: YES! The judge held that payment under Horace's life insurance policy was not against public policy since it could in no way benefit Horace. Being dead, observed the judge, nothing could benefit him. (Based upon a 1956 United States District Court Decision)

'People Puzzle' Had Earmarks Of Pilot

NEW YORK (AP) — "The Perpetual People Puzzle," ABC's Monday night special, was a grab-bag of entertainment - some songs, a dance number, a little satire, some comedy monologues, a sportscaster trying to be a comedian at his own expense, and right in the middle of all the action, a very moving dramatic vignette.

The hour program had all the earmarks of a pilot for a series. In structure, it was a cross between Public Broadcasting's "Great American Dream Machin" and NBC's "Laugh-In."

Singer - dancer Gwen Verdon opened the show with "Chicago" sung and danced in an airline terminal at Kennedy Airport in New York as some passengers stared wide-eyed. Miss Verdon and her fellow dancers wound up riding slowly around the big metal wheel from which passengers grab their luggage.

There was Richie Haven and his musical group with a couple of sad songs, and Jack Cassidy camping through a broad satire on TV's situation comedies.

Cutting in from start to finish was ABC's man about sports, Howard Cosell, reporting on a "Commuter 500" race. This was three working people - a girl on a motorcycle, a man on a train and a man in a car — supposedly racing to get to the office first. Cosell's play-by-play and the race were supposed to be funny, and maybe they were for viewers who are Cosell fans.

And the drama: James Earl Jones played a freshly released ex-convict riding a bus back home and worrying about whether his wife wants him back. Three sympathetic fellow passengers bring him to the point of telling how, if she wants him back, there will be a yellow handkerchief tied to a tree near the bus stop.

It built nicely to a climax - a tree festooned with yellow banners.

A lot of the show didn't work at all, other portions seemed forced and self-conscious, but all through it were rewarding moments.

Best of all, it was an effort to do something in the variety form that has not been copied all over the place.

Dan Blocker's recent death has left a big hole in the basic structure of NBC's "Bonanaza." David Canary was brought back to the series almost immediately and Tim Matheson, once in "The Virginian" cast, will be introduced as a regular in the fourth or fifth episode of the fall season. He will play Griff King, an ex-convict brought to the ranch by Ben Cartwright. Young Mitch Vogel will continue as a regular for a third season.

But the Cartwright clan that began with four is down to two — Lorne Greene and Michael Landon.

Kennett Man Invents Electro-Magnet Car

KENNETT — A Kennett High School graduate has been credited with the invention of the first vehicle in the world to be lifted and propelled by electro- magnetic forces.

James A. Ross, son of Mrs. Carl Ross and the late Carl Ross, Kennett, an engineer with Rohr Industries of Chula Vista, Calif., headed the project and co- holds several of the Romag patents with Rohr. Ross is a Kennett High School graduate and was graduated from University of Missouri School of Engineering.

"Jim (Ross) is truly a genius, and I don't use that word lightly," said Keith Tantlinger, vice president of Rohr's industrial systems group. "He has given us the lead in still another transportation field, and in one that may prove to have the greatest significance."

Ross said the Romag feels "like you're riding on a six= sided wheel now, and the movements could be smoother, but this will get better in the months ahead. The ride will be quiet and completely smooth in the production models."

He said Romag can be built in any size, from small, personal rapid transit vehicles to large intercontinental ones, and that the system is adaptable to nearly all types of mass transit.

"We could build one vehicle that could go 10 to 20 miles an hour withing the cities and then up to 200 miles an hour between cities," he said. "We would require a different configuration for intercontinental or higher speed use, but the same system could be both personal transit and interurban transit."

The car is run by a single-sided electric linear motor attached to the bottom of the car body and hanging down beneath the guiderails, which look like lightweight railroad tracks.

When power is applied, a magnetic field is created, causing the motor to be attracted to the rail above it, raising the attached car body a fraction of an inch off the rails.

The air gap thus created is maintained during operations, providing a friction- free ride. At the same time, the vehicle is being lifted by magnetic forces, current being fed to the linear motor is varied to cause a magnetic field to move horizontally in relation to the guiderails, causing the Romag to go forward or backward.

"It is really very simple," Ross said. "You control the voltage to control the lift and you control the current frequency to control the propulsion."

Ross has worked in the field of power and electronics for 17 years, and he holds many patents for complicated electrical control systems. He has been working on Romag for two years.

The Prayer

Secretary Overstepped, Says Court

KANSAS CITY (AP) — A U.S. District Court judge ruled Monday that the secretary of transportation overstepped his authority when he withheld part of the funds allocated by the Highway Trust Fund to the state for the fiscal year 1973.

Judge William H. Becker held that the transportation secretary did not have the authority to impose contract controls or restrictions on highway fund appropriations received by Missouri.

The decision came in a suit filed by the state highway commission against John A. Volpe, secretary of transportation, and George P. Shultz, then the director of the Office of Management and Budget.

Robert L. Hyder, chief counsel for the highway commission, who filed the suit, contended the controversy arose when the Nixon administration moved to "cool the economy" by reducing appropriations to the state for highway development. Judge Baker's decision, if it is upheld by the appellate court, means that Missouri will be able to obligate about $89 million in highway contracts.

Attorneys for the Transportation Department contended the money sought by the state was not available.

Both Volpe and Shultz were directed to appear to show cause why they should not be forced to release all the federal highway money. Neither Volpe nor Shultz appeared.

Agnew Speaks To National Jaycee Group

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Evansgelist Billy Graham was scheduled to address the national convention of U.S. Jaycees today.

Vice President Spiro Agnew, speaking under tight security precautions, addressed the Jaycees Monday, saying the nation must continue the development of modern weapons systems for the military.

While he spoke, about 150 antiwar demonstrators marched on a sidewalk outside chanting, "Stop the bombing, end the war," as they hoisted a Viet Cong flag.

Secret Service agents allowed no one to enter or leave the auditorium while Agnew spoke and more than 50 helmeted policemen kept an eye on the demonstrators outside.

The vice president drew 10 rounds of applause during his 20-minute speech.

Bond Favors No-Fault Insurance

CARTHAGE, Mo. (AP) — State Auditor Christopher "Kit" Bond, Republican candidate for governor, said Tuesday he would support no-fault accident insurance if he is elected.

He said Missouri automobile owners, like those in Massachusetts, could realize signficant savings if the state had a nofault law.

In a speech prepared for delivery (6:30 p.m.) before the Lincoln Republican Women's Club in Carthage, Bond said lower premium prices have resulted in Massachuetts and added:

"There is no reason why this should not be the case in Missouri. In addition to the advantage of lower premium prices, automobile owners are able to avoid lengthy court suits and settle claims more quickly through no-fault insurance."

Boost Aid To Elderly, Says Eagleton

ST. LOUIS (AP)-- Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton, D-Mo., told the American Optometric Association convention Tuesday that the federal government should provide increased health benefits for the elderly.

Eagleton said more than 900 older persons become eligible for medicare each day.

He said he was hopeful that pending social security legislation would be amended to include optometry services under medicare. He urged the optometrist to cooperate with the federal overnment to help alleviate what he called the nation's health care crisis.

Eagleton said health care should be thought of as a basic right for everyone, "not just the privilege of a select few."

BARBS

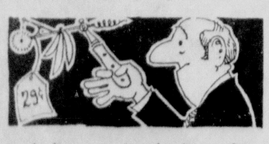

By PHIL PASTORET

The 4th falls on a Tuesday this year, but too many will try to celebrate it with a fifth on the 1st, 2nd and 3rd.

Foresight is the attribute of a wise man; hindsight the attribute of a pretender.

A bargain is too often something the store wants to get rid of.

ZEROING IN—A jumper stretches for "dead center" during individual accuracy competition at the annual West Point (N.Y.) Invitational Sport Parachute Championships. More than 100 jumpers took part in the three day contest which was hosted by the U.S. Military Academy's First Battalion Sport Parachute Club. Competition was open to all active duty military personnel. (U.S. Army photo by Sp5 Craig Blurton)

The Summer 1972 issue of TIPS will be devoted exclusively to a detailed explanation of the enlisted personnel system — how it works and how to function within it.

Earl Braswell

The potato, a member of the botanical family, was once considered poisonous. Actually, when first introduced into Europe, many people shied away from the vegetable in the belief that it possessed harmful qualities. This feeling persisted until the latter half of the 18th Century ... According to experts, chins give an indication of character. A pointed chin, for example, often denotes craftiness; a protruding chin indicates tenacity; one that recedes indicated weakness of character; a small chin might indicate timidity, and a sign of self-restraint is a square chin.

The presence of lime spots, streaks, stains, or rings on bathroom fixtures, kitchen sinks, and dishes, indicates the presence of hard tap water. It's simple to remove these solids with a Miracle Water water refiner. The space-saving, attractive appliance can be set anywhere in your house and requires no attachments, and is available to rent or to buy.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Tuesday, June 20, the 172nd day of 1972. There re 194 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1789, the French Revolution began.

On this date:

In 1632, the English crown granted the colony of Maryland to Lord Baltimore.

In 1837, Victoria became queen of England on the death of her uncle, King William IV.

In 1863, West Virginia became the 35th state to be admitted to the Union.

In 1867, President Andrew Johnson proclaimed the treaty for the purchase of Alaska from Russia.

In 1898, the United States seized the island of Guam in the Spanish-American War.

In 1963, the United States and the Soviet Union agreed to establish the so-called "hot line" communications system between Washington and Moscow.

Ten years ago: West Berlin police were digging trenches along the Berlin wall to provide added cover against gunfire from East German guards.

Five years ago: A jury in Houston, Tex., found former heavyweight boxing champion Muhammad Ali guilty of refusing military induction and sentenced him to serve five years in prison and pay a $10,000 fine.

One year ago: A Russian space scientist who disappeared from his delegation at the Paris air show, Anatoly Fedoseyev, turned up in Britain and was granted permission to stay.

Dexter Man Named Insurance Executive

COLUMBIA — Ronald D. Borders of Dexter has been appointed executive secretary of the Missouri Association of Farm Mutual Insurance Companies, according to an announcement by William R. Robbins of Trenton, president of the association. Borders will be the first full-time executive officer in the 76-year history of the association.

New headquarters have also been established at 800 Providence Road in Columbia. Membership in the association includes 120 companies, serving about 250,000 policyholders with more than $3.5 billion insurance in force in every county in Missouri. Average age of the member companies is 78 years.

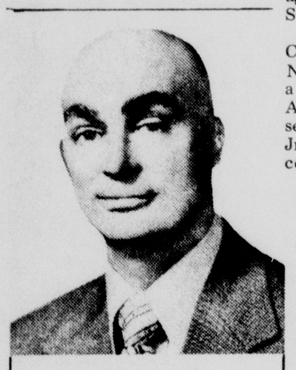

Borders is a native of Missouri with a farm background. He is 28, attended Southeast Missouri State College at Cape Girardeau and has had newspaper and radio

County.

Tinnin, who favors Poplar Bluff as the headquarters location, further charged that Butler County voters were being "encouraged" by the New Madrid machine to make a "deal".

He was quoted in The Daily Democrat as saying "the voters there (Butler County) are being told by the machine that if they vote for Randall Ramsey and Bill Morris, both backed by the machine, then they can keep the patrol headquarters ..."

In reply to Tinnin's accusations, Hunter issued the following statement today to The Daily Standard:

"The selection of a location for Troop E headquarters of the highway patrol should be made by the highway patrol and the selection of the site should be made on its merit. It should be located at a site where it would most promote the efficiency of law enforcement in the whole Troop E area and, in addition, effectively save the taxpayers of Missouri the most tax dollars.

"It is my thought," Hunter continued, "that Sen. Tinnin did not necessarily take these matters into consideration when he excluded all locations except Poplar Bluff and did not give other areas an opportunity to make their offers."

Frankly Speaking

LABELING OF INGREDIENTS IN COSMETICS IS NECESSARY

Since the beginning of history men and women have looked for ways to make themselves more attractive. In this century a multi-billion-dollar industry has been built on the hopes and dreams of millions of people that a touch of this and a dab of that will make them more appealing.

Most cosmetics are perfectly safe, if not always effective. But some have been known to do more than fail to provide sought-after beauty. Some produce severe allergic reactions. Others contain ingredients harmful to virtually all users -- a case in point being a nail-hardening product that was found to contain formaldehyde, a highly irritating chemical.

Under existing law, consumers have inadequate protection against these possibilities. The Food and Drug Administration cannot require pre-testing of cosmetics before they are marketed. They cannot even demand that the manufacturers list the ingredients. The F.D.A. can act to ban harmful products but only after some damage has been done. And the record shows that they have acted only infrequently.

Right to know

If a cosmetic contains an ingredient which may cause the buyer injury, he or she should be able to know it -- simply by reading the label.

Despite the contention of the cosmetic industry that half the population is allergic to one or another ingredient and that manufacturers cannot possibly guart against all sensitives, many consumers could protect themselves if they knew what a cosmetic contained before they bought it.

At present, the only way to know which products contain which ingredients is by buying an expensive book called "Clinical Toxicology of Commercial Products."

Eagleton Amendment

I have been concerned about the lack of adequate control in this area for some time and have been inspired by the extensive work done in Sullivan, the leading Congressional expert on the subject.

A few weeks ago there was a breakthrough when the Senate Labor and Public Welfare Committee adopted my amendment to the Food, Drug and Consumer Product Safety Act of 1972 providing for the clear labeling of each ingredient in cosmetic products. In also requires a warning label whenever a cosmetic would be dangerous under any reasonably foreseeable conditions of use or misuse.

The full Senate will be voting on this proposal, important to millions of consumers, this week.

? Consumer's Question Box ?

By Margaret Dana

Q. Can you tell me if microwave ovens will brown roasts of meat? My husband read in an electronics magazine that microwave ovens don't brown anything because they cook from the inside out. I don't like meat unless it is nice and brown.

A. It was true of all microwave ovens, when first introduce, that they did not brown any food. But in checking improvements since then I find that several makers now say their microwave ovens will brown even large roasts of meat. I suggest that before deciding on any brand or type of microwave oven, you check thoroughly what the maker says his oven will do in this respect. But generally speaking it is true that the oven cooks most foods by direct heat of the microwaves, without even heating the pans in which the food is baking, and not browning the surface of the food.

Q. I have heard that some state recently passed a law requiring anybody who claims to be able to repair cars and motor bikes to be registered and licensed to do this work. Could you find out which state this is and how the law works?

A. You may be referring to California where the Automotive Repair Act became effective on March 4 of this year. It requires that all business establishments engaged in repairing, maintaining or diagnosing malfunctions of passenger vehicles, including motorcycles, must be registered with the Bureau of Automative Repair, Dept of Consumer Affairs of the State of California, not later than June 30, 1972.

One of the important points of this regulation is that a customer must be provided with a written estimate for labor and parts before any repair work is undertaken. A customer is entitled to the replaced parts, if the request for them is made before work starts. These and other requirements make this a most important consumer ruling and other states are expected to follow suit.

Q. My problem is phonograph records. I have been buying records since I was nine years old and now I'm 14. In these five and a half years I have come across many records, about 50 out of 200, that don't play right for some reason or other.They skip, stick. or just plain slide over the whole record. I am thoroughly disgusted, Isn't there anything that can be done about it? I'm just about ready to stop buying records.

A. Yes, I think something can be done about this problem, but first I need to know names of makers of those records which have misbehaved and about how long ago.

Sometimes a defect is corrected after years of consumer complaints, but not everyone hears about this. Also there have in recent years been some records made and sold by fly-by-night companies which feel no responsibility for customer satisfaction.

Their names would help provide necessary information to correct the cause of the defective records. Write me giving company names and names of the records, and check to see if your friends have had similar experiences.

Q. I enclose some advertisements of the special bags to be used for cooking food, baking or roasting meats, etc. Have they been accepted by the Food and Drug Administration as safe? Could they affect the health of those eating food cooked in them?

A. After considerable intensive research the FDA states that the bags meant for roasting or otherwise cooking food are safe, if the maker's directions are carefully followed. The hazard was not in any toxic reaction to the food, but possible fire hazard, or explosion, etc. It is now assured that by following directions on the label no danger exists.

Q. I would like to know what is meant by "farmer's cheese," "pot cheese," and baker's cheese." Are they similar to cottage cheese, and what is the calorie content of these?

A. "Farmer's cheese" and "pot cheese" are simply different names for cottage cheese, according to the Dairy Council, the U. S. Department of Agriculture and others. But I do not find "baker's cheese" listed in any of these reports. I believe, however, it is probably simily another version of the local name for cottage cheese. As for calories, the USDA "Pocket Guide to Calories and Weight" says that two tablespoons of cottage cheese, uncreamed, contains 25 calories. Cottage cheese, creamed, contains only five more calories per two tablespoons.

Solid Waste Disposal To Be Discussed

Propsoals for solid waste disposal will be discussed at the planning and zoning commission meeting at 7:30 tonight in the City Administrative Building on North New Madrid.

Also under consideration at tonight's meeting will be the rezoning of a portion of the Montgomery tract adjacent to Donna Street and the resubdivision of land owned by John Cowan.

to waive a house-moving fee against Woodrow Gaines because he was already in the process of moving a house when an ordinance was approved by the council requiring a permit to move houses over city streets.

A special meeting was held last week approving the ordinance requiring application to the city for a permit to move a house over city streets for a fee of $50. The permit would require information concerning the place of entry, route, final destination, weight and time and date of movement.

An injunction brought against Gaines by the city was dismissed Monday in Stoddard County Circuit Court.

The total 1972 valuation assessment for the city was $7,094,659, including real estate valuation of $5,361,915, personal valuation of $1,442,759 and merchant valuation of $289,985.

Following resignation of Al Lange as library trustee, Bob McGill was recommended by the library board and approved by the council to replace Lange.

James Carney, chairman, Eldon Cooper and James Williams were appointed to make a recommendation to the council at the next meeting concerning a liquor license request by Dale Kirkbride, owner of the Pizza Villa which is now under construction. The committee will decide whether or not to allow Kirkbride a liquor license. The city's license quota has already been reached.

The council approved a request to pay expenses for city attorney Paul McGhee to attend the municipal attorney's meeting in July at Lodge of the Four Seasons and Mayor Conner's expenses to attend municipal league meetings.

Police Judge Tom Nunn was instructed to meet with the council's police committee concerning an equitable court cost for those signing complaints for some alleged violation of a city ordinance and then failing to appear in court. This recommendation will then be given to the council for consideration.

'Peace Can't Be Bought Cheap'

Laird Says Adequate Defense Budget A Must

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird said today that national security would be jeopardized by the Moscow arms agreement "unless there is continued support for an adequate defense budget."

Laird told the Senate Armed Services Committee that the ABM treaty and the interim agreement on offensive weapons "are good for America.

"They enhance our security," he said, "they permit us to maintain needed strength.

"But by themselves they do not automatically guarantee these national security gains.

"Peace cannot be bought cheaply.

"The opportunities for peace embodied in the SALT agreements would be nullified and our national security jeopardized unless there is continued strong support for an adequate defense budget."

Laid said Soviet Communist party chief Leonid Brezhnev told President Nixon in Moscow that the Russians intended to go forward with weapons development programs.

"It should be no surprise when I report to you that this is precisely what they are doing," the defense chief said.

"During the past several weeks the Soviet Union has been conducting a series of tests involving new ballistic programs, including multiple warhead technology. In addition, continued testing of existing systems is moving ahead."

Laird called for continuing U.S. development of the new Trident super-submarine, the B1 bomber as a replacement for the B52, a submarinelaunched cruise missile, SLCM, and other weapons programs.

Committee Chairman John C. Stennis, D-Miss., in opening the hearings, said they would be geared to determining military implications of the SALT agreements, whether the United States would maintain a deterrent capability with the agreements, and whether that would be possible without the agreements.

Laird has declared publicly that he could not support the U.S.-Soviet pacts limiting offensive and defensive nuclear missiles without continued U.S. development of new submarine and bomber systems.

"The success of SALT depends on sustained strength," Laird had said in remarks which differ, in emphasis at least, from the positions outlined by presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger.

Kissinger has maintained that the administration is interested equally in congressional approval of both the arms accords and funds for continued development of weapons exempt from the agreements. But he has said, "We are not making them conditional."

The new weapons programs came under fire Monday from Senate Foreign Relations Committee members who questioned Secretary of State William P. Rogers.

Chairman J.W. Fulbright, DArk., said that shifting the arms race to exempt weapons would be "inconsistent" with the spirit of the agreements.

Rogers said the United States wants to reach additional arms agreements in continuing talks with the Soviets, but asserted that "we have to do it from a position of strength."

After all, he said, Soviet Communist party chief Leonid I. Brezhnev has declared that Russia will move ahead on weapons improvements.

Merit Should Determine Site, Hunter Says

NEW MADRID — In a lengthy article published Monday in Kennett's Daily Dunklin Democrat, State Sen. Nelson Tinnin D-Hornersville, charged Hal E. Hunter, Jr., of wielding his political stick and that of the "New Madrid political machine" to influence possible relocation of Troop E headquarters of the Missouri Highway Patrol.

Tinnin charged that pressure from the machine had influenced Gov. Warren E. Hearnes' decision to delete the Poplar Bluff location in signing an appropriation of funds for a new Troop E facility and that Hearnes in turn would pressure Col. E. I. Hockaday, superintendent of the patrol, into choosing the 20- acre site offered near Sikeston in New Madrid County or one near Charleston, Hearnes' home town, but still in New Madrid

SeMo Man's Appeal Leads To New Court Procedure

KANSAS CITY — The Missouri Supreme Court will hear appeals only in cases involving constitutional questions and criminal cases involving convictions on first-degree murder charges.

The decision resulted from an appeal by an East Prairie man, Lonnie Garrett, 27, who is serving a 20- year sentence for first degree robbery, and is intended to free the court from routine criminal appeals in order to have more time to consider important cases fully, Chief Justice James A. Finch Jr. said.

Judges predicted that the immediate impact of the decision would be to send a large number of pending cases to the state's three appeals courts at St. Louis, Kansas City and Springfield. Although freeing the Supreme Court of many cases, the action was expected to create a backlog in the appeals courts.

Garrett was returned to New Madrid County in October 1971 by order of the Supreme Court for a hearing on his motion to vacate sentence. Garrett contended the 20- year sentence imposed against him was influenced by a prior conviction in 1959 in Mississippi County when he pleaded guilty to burglary and larceny.

The armed robbery conviction of Garrett stems from the Oct. 27, 1965 shooting of Richard L. Richards, following an automobile accident four miles east of Matthews on Highway 80 in which Lonnie Garrett and Sam Irby were in an automobile driven by Isaac Barker, an employe of Richards.

Richards, who saw the accident, his brother Larry Richards and Barker pursued the trio. When they caught up with them Richard L. Richards was shot and left lying in a ditch. Larry Richards was robbed of $6, driven away and later let out on a country road.

On Jan. 25, 1966, Billy Joe Garrett was sentenced to 50 years, Sam Irby, 40 years and Lonnie Garrett, 30 years, reduced Aug.. 8 1967 to 20 years.

Judge William H. Billings overruled Garrett's motion to vacate sentence on Jan. 4.

Garrett's appeal has been transferred to the Springfield Court of Appeals.

Supreme Court judges decided to use the Garrett case to issue a major interpretation of amendments to the Missouri Constitution that went into effect in January.

Under the changes, the Supreme Court was to hear appeals on offenses "punishable by a sentence of death or life imprisonment."

In an opinion by Judge Robert T. Donnelly, the court held that the phrase referred only to first- degree murder, which is the oniy crime punishable by life imprisonment or death.

Finch explained in a concurring opinion that 21 other offenses in Missouri carried a minimum sentence but no stated maximum. For example, a rape conviction can bring a penalty of not less than two years.

The court has decided, Finch said, that it would take the amendment literally and hear appeals only on offenses that are punishable by life imprisonment or death. He said the court would continue also to hear appeals where a death sentence has been imposed.

As for Lonnie garrett, who initiated the case leading to the decision, the Supreme Court transferred his appeal to the Court of Appeals at Springfield because it involved only a robbery charge.

Court To Study Petitions

BENTON — In a spirited hearing Monday on a proposed election for a County nursing home, Scott County Court took under advisement petitions containing over 1,000 signatures.

An attorney for Ira Shuffit, who owns several private nursing homes, contested the validity of the signatures. A legal representative for the county nursing home committee, asked that witnessess be produced to testify in court against the signatures. Shuffit's attorney stated that just looking at the signatures was evidence enough for him.

Presently the County clerk's office is checking the signatures against signatures in voter registration files, for not only must the signatures be authentic, but signers must be registered voters.

The County Court will make its opinion known in a June 26 public hearing.

Saturday, Aug. 12, display of exhibits at Kingsway Plaza Mall concludes. Exhibits are to be released between 5 and 7 p.m.

Dexter Offers City Dump Site To Highway Patrol

DEXTER — Mayor Willis Conner was given unanimous approval Monday night by city council members to offer the amount of land considered necessary should Dexter be chosen as the site of Troop E headquarters of the Missouri Highway Patrol.

The proposed site offered by the City of Dexter is a 40-acre tract north of town presently used as the city dump which, according to Conner will be closed in the near future. Conner said Dexter would be an ideal location for the headquarters because of its central location, airport facilities, high elevation and ideal terrain.

Conner appointed Percy Clippard as chairman of the advisory committee to study the situation. Other members of the committee are Louis Jones, Chamber of Commerce president; Don Evans and Bob Robbins, both Chamber of Commerce members and Bill Settles, airport board member.

Terry Howes of C. R. Trotter and Associates reported the new fire station should be completed within a week or 10 days. The council approved payment of $7,200 to C.A.D. Plumbing and Heating, Inc. in partial payment of construction costs.

The council also approvee awarding of contract on the sewage treatment system to John Wickhan, Bunker contractor, in the amount of $122,030.90.

Water Plant In Operation

NEW MADRID — City Administrator Russell Ellis told the council Monday night that the city's new half-million gallon per day water treatment plant is in full operation. The new plant, built at a cost of $380,000, was placed in operation Monday.

A petition was presented by Mrs. Russell Krebs on behalf of residents on Old Kingshighway requesting that trucks be barred from use of the street. A section of the street from Scott Pinnell was recently resurfaced at a cost of $733 per property front foot and residents feared the new street would be damaged by heavy trucks. After discussion, the board ordered an ordinance prepared, limiting trucks to those making delivery and other trucks to a gross weight of 12,000 pounds.

Approved was a new ordinance setting the telephone license tax to five per cent of a monthly base rate on telephone users.

Payment of the tax to the city is to be made quarterly.

Construction bills totaling $758,149.21 at the city's 600-megawatt steam generating station in St. Jude Industrial Park were approved. Also approved were construction payrolls of $204,643.93 for the week ending June 9 and $260,512.91 for the week ending June 16.

Four applications for the position of city administrator were reviewed with no action taken. The office is being vacated by Ellis, whose resignation is effective July 6.

Street paving bills on Old Kingshighway were discussed due to a question of ownership of property adjoining the St. Louis Southwestern Railroad right-of-way. After examination of city maps and plats, it was found that the land at the rear of property owners on Scott Street from Old Kingshighway to Capital was the old Riley street right of way which had been closed through disuse.

The board ordered a record search be made to determine if the street had been dedicated to the city. If found to be dedicated, the council plans to reopen the street and strike the tax bills.

Injunction Halts Cleaning Of Ditch

BLOOMFIELD — A temporary injunction against the City of Dexter to halt contractors from cutting trees and brush along a drainage ditch was issued Monday in Stoddard County Circuit Court by Judge William H. Billings.

The injunction, naming City of Dexter; Keener Gravel Company, Incorporated; Earl Kinder, a sub-contractor of Keener; and Randy Kinder, employe and son of Earl Kinder, came after C. H. Parsons, Jr., Dexter attorney, and Willard Brown filed a request last week to stop brush-clearing along the east-west drainage ditch located south of the Westport Subdivision, which is owned by Parsons and Brown. The men contend their property is being damaged by the clearing operations.

Judge Billings set a hearing date for July 31 to determine whether or not a permanent injunction should be made in the case.

Teens Appear In Flag Theft

Two teen-agers appeared in Magistrate Court today and pleaded guilty to charges stemming from the April 12 theft of two flags from the home and campaign headquarters of C. F. Cline, candidate for Democratic nomination for state representative from the 159th district.

David Ervin Davis, 18, of Morley, and James Earl Young, 17, of Parma will be sentenced next Tuesday.

Davis had told police he bought the flags in Cape Girardeau when they were actually received from a group of Sikeston juveniles. Young is charged with knowingly receiving stolen goods.

The flags were discovered by police in an apartment the youths had rented at 302 Heath St.

The case of David Lee Cathy was turned over to New Madrid County today. He was arrested May 31 after allegedly pointing a .30-.30 caliber rifle at a policeman and threatening to shoot.

Judge Lloyd Briggs dismissed charges against a man thought to be a Sikeston juvenile wanted for the robbery of Spanish 66 Service Station. The man, arrested by Michigan police, has been released.

A warrant was issued for the arrest of Willie Rule, Route Four, for failure to appear in court on charges of driving without a license.

A preliminary hearing was set for next week to hear evidence against Ronald Henson, Route Four, charged with the attempted breakin of the William Lee Williams liquor store on Highway 61.

Other cases heard today include: Dorothy E. Chiles, 3751A Meramec in St. Louis, careless and imprudent driving, fined $75 and costs. Ulys Love Lane, Jon Don Acres trailer court, speeding, $18 and costs. Anita L. Parker, East Prairie, Box 203 speeding, $30 and costs.

Earnest Lee Shannon, Route Four, careless and imprudent driving, dismissed with the state paying costs. Jack Crawford, 8507 Craig Hill in St. Louis, speeding, $10 and costs. Uelma Ellen Linam, 512 Coleman, no driver's license, $5 and costs.

Samuel White, Memphis, Tenn., speeding, $82 and costs. Joseph Lanier Brule, Granite City, careless and imprudent driving, $25 and costs. Edward Gene McGhee, 111 North Martin in East Prairie, no state truck sticker, $25 and cost

Thomas Lee Shannon, riding in a car he knew to be stolen, dismissed. Willie J. Wilson, Piplar Bluff, felonious assault, dismissed. Oreal Pitts, Steele Route One, nonsupport, dismissed. Odis Dorris Glenn, Canalou, no driver's license, dismissed.

Return Davis To Sikeston

Jack Eugene Davis, 47, of Huntsville, Ala., has been returned to Sikeston police custody after his arrest in Cairo, Ill., during the weekend.

Davis is wanted for cashing more than $500 worth of bogus checks in Sikeston. He is also wanted by Augusta, Ark., authorities on bogus check charges.

Lee Retires From Bank Post

Meredith Lee, senior vice president of Bank of Sikeston, has announced his retirement as an active officer of the bank.

The retirement will be effective July 1. Lee will continue his association with the bank as a member of the board of directors and as a consultant and advisor to the executive staff.

Charles D. Matthews, president of the bank, stated his appreciation for the service Lee has rendered through the 35 years he has served as an employee of the bank. He further stated that, although retiring from his immediate duties, he was pleased that Lee would continue as a director and consultant.

WHAT IS NEWS PROPAGANDA?

Kenneth W. Clawson, a White House spokesman, has accused The New York Times of having "in at least two specific instances." recently acted as a "conduit of enemy propaganda."

He pointed out that on May 14 The Times published on its front page a dispatch that quoted anonyomous "responsible informants" as saying that United States mines sown in North Vietnamese ports could deactivate themselves before President Nixon arrived in Moxcow. He also noted that a Times correspondent in North Vietnam reported on May 18, in a dispatch also printed on the front page, that the North Vietnamese asserted they were clearing Haiphong harbor of mines "as planes drop them, and moving ships in and out," and, "Independent sources give support to that claim."

Both reports were categorically denied by the United States Government.

Mr. Clawson's objection was that, although The Times published the denials, the "enemy propaganda" was given great prominence, and the Government denial in regard to the alleged self-deactivating nature of the bombs was not published until a day after the "propaganda" was printed, while the denial of mine-clearing of ships moving in and out of Haiphong harbor received only secondary treatment in The Times.

Here is another set of instances in which The New York Times has used the form of good journalism but not the substance of it. Giving the enemy first choice of space for his claims in the middle of war is hardly objectivity. Moreover, it strains the reader's credulity when The Times speaks of the enemy in the headlines, and prints the enemy's views prominently side by side and in considerable detail. Yet that has been happening all along in regard to Hanoi's statements at the Paris peace talks.

It is really confusing, the eleven men running for Democratic nomination for Governor, eight for Lieutenant - Governor, and many other candidates at the state level. I have just made up my mind that I know damn well I am going to vote for Jim Kirkpatrick for Secretary of State, the rest of them I am going to let the Primary settle on, and who ever they nominate it looks like the ole editor will have to support them. I have in the past strayed off and voted for Republicans, but every time I have I've really fixed it up and there is one thing about it, if I lost my vote, it is not the first time and it won't be, I guess the last time. I'm not telling anybody else how to vote except there is one candidate that I am going to tell all my employees that I don't care who they vote for, but I want them to vote against this candidate. He is no good for the newspapers, and of course, after 60 years in newspaper business, really that is my first love.

Among the really big retailers in the typical community are grocers, department stores, feed stores, drug stores, and home builders.

And in the typical community these retailers generally invest about 75 per cent of their advertising funds in newspaper adverstising.

In a growing community, home builders probably do more volune than any other group of business men. It is interesting to take a look at their choice o advertising media.

A survey by the Johns - Manville Sales Corp. showed that ninety per cent of the home builders in the United States favor newspapers over any other form of advertising.

The reasons for the preference of newspapers may be answered in questions:

How else can a map showing the route of a new development be placed into the hands of every potential home buyer in a community?

How else can various styles of homes be show to a prospect for simultaneous comparison at his convenience?

How else can the details of financing be explained in a way which will allow for study and deliberate consideration?

What other medium automatically builds the prestige of a builder and engenders faith of the prospect as compared to the local newspaper?

Where else does the prospective home-buyer deliberately seek information on new homes?

In attempting to answer the questions, not many builders can find a substitute for the local newspaper.

As Huey Long, the Louisiana kingish, used to put it almost 40 years ago, Sen. George McGovern wants to "share the wealth."

What McGovern proposes is that the federal government raise the taxes on the rich and distribute the proceeds among the people on the bottom and middle rungs of the nation's income ladder. This has raised the hackles of his rival for nomination, Sen. Hubert Humphrey, who says that he does "not intend to revolutionize the country by the massive redistribution of wealth."

We are reminded that when Franklin Delano Roosevelt took office in 1933, the richest 20 per cent of all the families in the country had about 40 per cent of all the income, and the poorest 20 per cent had only 5 per cent. For all the things that have been said and done in the years since, the percentages are the same today.

There is one exception. All American taxpayers, rich and poor, are faced with a federal deficit of over $350 billion which none of the candidates seem to discuss.

'YES,' THERE'S HELP

This is the time of year when you hear complaints about how difficult it is to find someone to cut the grass, prune the shrubs, rake yards, wash windows and do the odd-jobs around the house.

There's no reason to complain in Sikeston. For the summer, disadvantaged youths, willing to work and anxious to earn money, have been organized by Youth Employment Service (YES). They will gather at centers scattered about the city. A phone call will bring however many you need to your home or business.

The number to call is 471-2731. It's a way of helping a deserving youngster — and yourself.

Crime rates are declining in Washington and in some other cities. Dr. Robert DuPont, Jr., one of the nation's leading authorities on drug abuse treatment, sees signs that heroin use in the nation's capital may have peaked. These two are closely aligned, as half of all street crimes in our major cities are committed by drug addicts.

The Justice Department has created a special office for catching heroin traffickers, rather than addicts. President Nixon recently established a "hotline" in Washington for obtaining anonymous tips on drug peddlers. More than 1,000 calls were received during the first three days.

It is important that the number be familiar to everyone. To dial it from any place in the nation, the number is 800-368-5363. There is no charge for calling the number, and information can be given without revealing the caller's name.

No one, not even our children, are immune from the danger of exposure to drugs. The hotline is a way for everyone to join in the battle against such a major national problem. Your cooperation is needed.

DALLAS (AP) — If there ever was a time and place for a woman's personality to burst into full bloom, it was in the Old West.

And bloom some women did, often to the aggravation of men, particularly sheriffs.

The truly free spirits were the young women who headed West to find adventure, a husband and wealth — all three in one package if possible.

A short list of the more notable of these women would include Flora Quick, Ann Bassett Willis, Belle Starr, Dona Tules, Calamity Jane, Poker Alice Tubbs, and, in a somewhat different subculture, Molly Brown.

These women — you hesitate to call all of them ladies — are discussed in a new book, "Wily Women of the West," by Grace E. Ray of Oklahoma.

Perhaps the best known of the badwomen of the West was Myra Belle Shirley who went down in the history books as Belle Starr.

Some of her more noted associates were the Younger Brothers Gang and the Jesse James crowd.

Belle was accused of many crimes, including murder, but the only thing that can be authenticated even hazily is horse stealing. She was assassinated as she rode toward home — killed by a blast of buckshot in the back.

Outside the ranching culture was a red - haired girl named Maggie Tobin. She went West as a hash slinger and married Leadville Johnny Brown, who became a multimillionaire when he discovered gold.

They moved to Denver and built a mansion amid the homes of what was called the "Sacred Thirty-Six" of Denver society and wealth.

She was not accepted for a number of reasons, one being that she was uneducated and unmannered.

Maggie set out to rectify that. She studied hard and soon was a member of Paris society.

The rough edges worn off, she settled in Newport, was listed in the Social Index and associated with the Astors, Whitneys and Vanderbilts. They particularly loved the way she could tell a story.

Yet she would have been a nonentity today had she not been aboard the Titanic when it hit an iceberg April 15, 1912.

The passengers had been brainwashed about the boat's unsinkability and most women and children refused to get into lifeboats.

Maggie — young, strong and sometimes domineering — went about the deck, shoving women and kids into lifeboats, screaming at them, and generally made herself a heroine.

When the rescue liner, the Carpathia, landed in New York, Maggie, who had a lusty way with words, told a reporter airily, "I'm unsinkable."

So now you know who she has become in legend, fact, song and theater.

She was "The Unsinkable Molly Brown."

REVERSAL IN RICHMOND

Efforts to integrate the public schools, however admirable the intentions, at times have raised serious questions about the powers of the federal courts to regulate the lives of citizens and direct the actions of local and state governments. The Richmond, Va., school order, which would have bridged political boundaries to consolidate three school systems, has been a major example of this issue.

In reversing the order Tuesday, the Fourth Circuit Court of Appeals ruled that the district judge had exceeded his authority. While the judge took extreme measures to enforce the equal protection clause of the 14th Amendment, the court said, he did not have sufficient consideration to the principle of federalism in the 10th Amendment.

Can a federal court compel a state to restructure its internal government for the purpose of integration? That is a constitutional question that will have to be answered by the United States Supreme Court. But, if such authority is finally upheld, it could open up some revolutionary areas for court involvement.

Consolidation, itself, is often desirable for many reasons. In education, the process has been going on for years, especially in rural areas, to create financially stronger and administratively more efficient school systems. Other governmental agencies have pressed for mergers to achieve the same goals. This was the thrust of the movement to consolidate Memphis and Shelby County last summer.

But these proposals were voluntarily approved or rejected by the voters and officials who would be affected. It would be a much different thing — a radical departure from American tradition — if administrative or political boundaries could be eliminated without local consent. What other purposes than integration might be found to justify such federal encroachment? When would state lines become violable?

One purpose might be more equitable financing of public education. Courts in California and Texas have ruled that the property tax is a discriminatory source of school revenues because it makes the quality of education that a child receives dependent on where he lives. Poor school districts can't match the per-pupil expenditures of wealthier districts. The Supreme Court has agreed to hear an appeal of the Texas ruling.

Despite the potential that consolidation may have for solving a variety of governmental and educational problems, however, the question remains of whether or at what point the options of local control should be revoked.

The final outcome of the Richmond case is likely to affect similar cases in Detroit and Grand Rapids, Mich., Dayton, Ohio; Hartford, Conn.; Indianapolis and Atlanta. It will determine whether consolidation lawsuits will be filed in many other cities across the country. It will stop, modify or stimulate one of the most far- reaching developments in the history of American public education.

As far as desegregation is concerned, the problem that consolidation addresses is admittedly most difficult. In many urban areas, consolidation offers the only feasible route to total school integration. While the Supreme Court will have to decide the issue on constitutional grounds, which cannot be corrupted by matters of convenience or popular opinion, we hope that the court will not have to restrict any constitutional right in order to protect one.

ESCAPING THE PEASANT CLASS

In Russia, it is said that there are only 14 million people who are members of the Communist Party. They constitute an elite political group which organizes and controls the entire Soviet system. A newspaper the Brookville, Pennsulvania, American, comments, "...according to competent experts, at least one half of the 14-million 'partly members' in the Soviet Union are not communists at all, in the ideological sense, but are members of the 'Party' because it is the only way to get a decent apartment, an automobile, a living wage, and other 'luxuries' which are denied to the workers and peasants in the U. S. S. R."

With congressional salaries going through the roof and other perquisites of public office soaring here in the U. S., it is a good bet that expediency rather than high idealism leads many with soft convictions into any sort of "public service" job available. Apparently the cloak of public service is preferred to the cloak of peasantry, even in the United States. It's no wonder. U. S. taxpayer are being reduced closer to the level of peasants with each passing year.

STALINISM LIVES

Alexander Solzhenitsyn's "One Day in the Life of Ivan Denisovich" graphically describes sub-human conditions in Soviet slave labors camps under Stalin. Farleftists claim that "de-Stalinization" has brought an end to such barbarities, but a news story in London Times publicized here by "Human Events" shows that little has changed in Soviet Russia except the leaders' names.

The Times reported in late December that several political prisoners in the Mordivinin labor camp had appealed to the International Red Cross, protesting a system aimed at "gradually transforming a person into an unthinking, intimidated and obedient animal."

Two evils were singled out. One was delibertate starvation of those prisoners who would not allow themselves to become "Intimidated and obedient." The authorities would withhold half the legal minimum of food calories, with serious illness the result.

The signers of the appeal also protested the uncivilized state of medical care. Medical supplies were almost totally lacking, there were no first aid facilities and doctors would deliberately make the wrong diagnosis in order to deprive the uncooperative prisoner of proper care.

The signers of this appeal knew that they faced retaliation for their action, but courageously went ahead. One of the signers was Simas Kudirka, the Lithuanian seaman who tried to defect to our country in 1970, but was sent back to Soviet authorities by the U.S. Coast Guard. Clearly Kudirka has retained all of the bravery which prompted his attempted escape from slavery.

If President Nixon is eager to talk to Soviet slavemasters, he should bring up the subject of barbarous treatment of political prisoners.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON — President Nixon's political operators, as befitting politicians with a multimillion-dollar kitty, are campaigning in style.

They travel first class, stay at the most fashionable hotels, dine at the most elegant restaurants and smoke the finest cigars.

Their expense accounts for April and May show they spent $34,631 on commercial flights, $6,318 for chartered planes and another $3,714 for the use of government planes.

In New York City, of course, they stayed at the Waldorf-Astoria. The bill for only three visits was $2,985. Their favorite spot in Florida was the Boca Raton Club, a watering hole for millionaires.

Bills were also submitted from the Bay Hill Club and Lodge, Orlando, Fla.; Canyon Hotel, Palm Springs, Calif.; Century Plaza, Los Angeles; Del Webb Townhouse, Phoenix, Ariz., and Four Ambassadors Hotel, Miami.

The President's fund raisers wined and dined prospective contributiors at Washington's fanciest eateries. One luncheon tab at the Gramercy Inn came to $1,300. They also downed $983 worth of French cuisine prepared by the fashionable Avignone Freres.

And, on a trip to New Orleans, they feasted at La Ruth's and charged the $245 check to the campaign.

WHITE HOUSE PARTIES

The cheapest place to entertain wealthy backers, apparently, is the White House. However, for their April 19 reception, the Republican Finance Committee fully reimbursed the White House fund with $159.

This wasn't the first time the President has used the White House to fatten the Republican campaign chest. On an earlier occasion, several Illinois millionaires were invited to the White House for dinner with the President. He made a few pleasant remarks, then discreetly disappeared while they had their arms twisted over after-dinner drinks and cigars.

The President's fund raisers, incidentally, collected over $10 million from unidentified contributors before a new law went into effect on April 7 requiring that all political donors be named.

Phony campaign committees were set up in Washington to receive the donations and more than 200 bank accounts were opened to hold all the cash.

Meanwhile, the Democrats are strapped for cash. Senator Hubert Humphrey, D-Minn., has gone $1 million in debt, and Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., has also spent more than he managed to take in.

O'BRIEN'S EXPENSES

Democratic National Chairman Larry O'Brien, as a gesture to the bankrupt Democrats, is serving without a salary. His sacrifice is more apparent, however, than real.

Virtually all of his personal expenses are paid by the party. He is provided with a chauffeur-driven car; his rent at the plush Sheraton Park apartments is paid; and he also eats at the best restaurants in town - all courtesy of the Democratic National Committee.

His air travel bills are charged to the party, often including tickets for his wife. Not long ago, O'Brien and his wife and two aides, one of them a secretary, flew first class from New York to San Juan, Puerto Rico.

After several days in the sun, they caught a plane to Chicago. But Mrs. O'Brien continued on to Aspen, Colo., for some time on the ski slopes.

Democratic officials insist that Mrs. O'Brien's fare to Colorado will be paid by her husband personally. She only travels with her husband at party expense, they say, when her presence is needed for official functions.

Republican officials say only that their expenses are all "legitimate," and that they "have reported them in detail as required by law."

But contributors, who are being asked to pony up for the candidate of their choice, might wonder.

WASHINGTON WHIRL

Shaffer's $13 Claim -- John Shaffer, the gallivanting administrator of the Federal Aviation Administration, logs 150,000 miles a year in the skies he polices. He has never suffered any injuries or accidents as a result of official air travel. But he stepped into his chauffeur-driven government car some months ago, bumped his shoulder on the edge of the door, and tore a two-inch gash in his coat. Shaffer, who makes $42,500 a year, had his coat reweaved and applied for $13 damage claim against the government.

Headlines and Footnotes -- The word from Moscow is that the Kremlin considers President Nixon a sure bet to win re-election in November. This is one reason Leonid Brezhnev, the party chief, laid out the Red carpet for him in Moscow....The President has cautioned Henry Kissinger and other aides, who may be dealing with both the Soviets and Chinese, to keep their stories straight. The President doesn't want them saying one thing to Moscow, another to Peking.... Nixon is eager to bring two or three thousand Soviet scientists doctors and intellectuals to the United States to study. He believes they will go home with favorable impression that will help avert misunderstandings in the future.

Pillaging the Poor: Probers Believe Misused and Stolen Poverty Funds Now total $2 billion annually

WASHINGTON — One investigator, with whom I've been digging for months into the fantastic theft and misuse of the people's money being dumped into the vast "poverty" pork barrel, went stuporous when he heard that some Congressmen are asking for an additional billion dollars to finance "the struggle."

"If we stop the wholesale thievery, the looting, the fraud, the inefficiency and the money dispensers' disinterestedness," he said grimly, "we could save the government and the states twice that each year."

He was saying that about $2 billion a year is wasted or stolen in the hundred-faceted fight on poverty. Given a series of flying squads of auditors he said he could prove this in a year.

There are tens of thousands of pay out offices to probe. For example, Connecticut Welfare Commissioner Henry White told me recently that one welfare "client" had cost the state $100,000 in one year, two others had cost $50,000 and, said he, "we have plenty of $25,000 -ers." Certainly this is merely a penny on the drum. But these pennies add up.

There is, for example, before we get into the billion dollar wastage, $997,000 which could have been saved by the Medicare program if such items as wheel chairs, portable bedside toilets, and "walkers" had been purchased instead of rented. This was turned up in a five-state General Accounting Office (GAO) probe. One patient rented a trapeze bar hospital bed for nearly four years. Rental charges, $1,996. The bed could have been bought for $318. And there is similar abuse, or collusion, in many of the other 45 states.

As for the big money, there is the $3.3 billion (fiscal 1971) program to employ disadvantaged persons in the Federal government.

Tragedy here is that no one really knows how much of this money is well spent on the well deserving, the truly hungry, crippled, illiterate and helpless of the Dostoyevskian "lumpen" proletariat in the barrios and hard-core ghettos of our big cities.

No one knows just how much is looted or wasted on pork barrel telephone calls from a hack district leader asking to have some party worker put on "some list, any list so long as he gets a check."

here just isn't any viable eligibility control system. The GAP reports that much of this is due to the U.S. Civil Service Commission policy which prevents investigation of family size and income of the applicant's claim for disadvantaged status. Demand for such information would be an unwarranted invasion of privacy, the Commission has ruled. Yet a $3.3 billion annual program depends on just such information.

And there is what the professionals call "AFDC" --Aid to Families With Dependent Children. I have been told of hundreds of millions of misspent and looted dollars in this arena alone. There are 2.7 million families in the program. And 1.9 million receive Federal aid because of missing fathers. The GAO was able, in Pennsylvania for example, to trace the father in 92 per cent of the cases of this sort. But the investigators found only 13 per cent "making support payments." though a tremendous number of additional fathers could have done so.

That's just one state.. In no state probed by the GAO were 50 per cent of the fathers who could pay to help their own children paying anything. That's fraud and worse.

And then there is the $2 billion annual federal-state social service assist program for welfare recipients. This is in addition to the cash payout expenditures -- known as "the check."

The GAO soon will probe the program in a sample set of five states-- especially California. This program supplies money, advice and assistance to the impoverished and helpless to bring them "to a state of self-dependency." There is counseling on how to budget income, on housing, onfinding a job, and aid on managing a home, (homemaker service which literally supplies social workers to act as maids).

There has just been no overall survey. So the GAO will see what this nation, and the truly poor, are getting for the $2 billion. Are they becoming less or more dependent? Is the money going to the helpless who generally get shunted aside by the slippery? Or are they getting more dependent? No one knows.

And I am not bringing in the biggest welfare and poverty pork barrel of all-- New York City. There, the state Welfare Inspector General, philanthropist and retired businessman George Berlinger, says he believes that "at least a billion dollars a year" has been wasted and looted in the past five years.

The poor aren't stealing it. Who is?

Airline Operations Resume After Strike

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Flight operations returned to normal today after a one-day worldwide strike by pilots pressing demands for tighter airport security against hijackers. A preliminary estimate put the airlines' losses at $65 million.

At the United Nations, Security Council members, spurred by the walkout that halted much or all of the air travel in 30 countries, met privately for three hours Monday and were reported near agreement today on some action against plane hijackings.

A spokesman for the striking pilots said in London that he was disappointed that American pilots, who were among the instigators of the stoppage, were prevented by a federal injunction from joining the international protest. The pilots of two U.S. airlines ignored the court order and refused to fly.

In New York, Security Council President Lazar Mojsov of Yugoslavia said after Monday's meeting that only a few points remained to be settled in a proposed statement condemning hijacking and that agreement would "probably" come today.

The statement would call upon all nations to prevent hijacking and ensure prosecution of air pirates, it was reported.

The strike was called by the International Federation of Airline Pilots Associations— IFALPA—to dramatize demands for tougher action against airline hijackers. In addition to the U.N. discussions there was one other development during the day.

The International Civil Aviation Organization in Montreal announced it had taken steps to permit member nations to impose sanctions against countries that cooperate with hijackers and extortionists.

The nature of the sanctions was not disclosed but a spokesman said approval of the measure was nearly unanimous. The ICAO is a United Nations-related body composed of government representatives of 124 countries, dealing with problems affecting commercial aviation.

An IFALPA spokesman said in London that the group believed the pilots had made their point with the strike and that "really effective measures against hijacking" were on the way.

John J. O'Donnell, president of the Airline Pilots Association in the United States, said the attempt to shut down domestic service had accomplished a major objective despite the fact that only two lines—Northeast and Eastern—were halted for the day. Southern wad shut down for a few hours.

Boys Post Given To Girardean

WARRENSBURG, Mo. (AP) — Delegates to Missouri Boys State divided into two parties for state conventions today, and they will be voting Wednesday in primary elections.

The Federalist and Nationalist parties heard brief speeches from high school boys who are running for the State's six elective offices and seven seats on the Supreme Court. The week-long workshop in government is sponsored by the American Legion and is being held at Central Missouri State College.

Today's state conventions also put together party platforms.

Mike Rosenthal of Cape Girardeau was elected chairman of the Federalists' state committee and also served as chairman of their convention. Steve Snyder of Creve Coeur was named secretary of both the state committee and the convention. Greg Tobin of Independence was vice chairman of the committee, and Steve Blaha of St. Louis was vice chairman of the convention. Kevin Hopkins of Blue Springs was treasurer of the state committee.

The Nationalists elected Dick Warris of St. Joseph as chairman of their state committee and their state convention. Bob Guest of Manchester was named vice chairman of the committee and secretary of the convention. Steve Stout of Hannibal was secretary of the state committee.

The state committees had the job of proposing platforms and settling any disputes over credentials and convention rules.

China Ports Shut To Soviet Ships

By ARTHUR L. GAVSHON

LONDON (AP) -- China has closed its southern ports to Soviet Ships with supplies for North Vietnam but is still allowing ships from other Communist countries to land supplies for Hanoi, authorities in touch with both Peking and Moscow reported today.

Peking's reason, according to informants putting out the Chinese line, is that the Soviets are unwilling to risk their new relationship with the United States by challenging President Nixon's mining of North Vietnam's ports.

Moscow's version, as told by diplomates from Soviet bloc countries, is that the Chinese are easing up on their support for the North Vietnamese in favor of a more flexible international policy.

The U.S. mining of North Vietnam's ports has been condemned by both Peking and Moscow as illegal interference with navigation on the high seas. Informants in touch with the Chinese say Peking considers that Moscow has the obligation to challenge the mining, and that failure to do so implies tacit acceptance.

The Chinese reportedly argue that the Soviet Union has the means and the equipment with which to foil the American mining while China does not. In Peking's view, therefore, Moscow's failure to accept the challenge can only mean that its relationship with Washington is deemed to transcend its responsibility to Hanoi.

The informants say that as Peking sees it, the smaller East European countries lack the power to challenge the Americans, therefore their cargoes for Hanoi are being accepted in Chinese ports.

For their part, the Russians reportedly contend that Peking's attitude is consistent with other signs suggesting China is moving away from its obligation to help Hanoi. This is cited as one of the factors that has led Moscow to help in the search for a political settlement of the Vietnam War.

Bus King Announces Campaign Cutback

CLAYTON, MO. (AP)--State Rep. R.J. "Bus" King announced this morning that he is cutting back on his campaigning for the GOP gubernatorial nomination because of a lack of funds.

King said he is not offcially withdrawing from the race, but will close his campaign offices, release his staff and make only local appearances between now and the Aug. 8 primary election.

The closing down of the King campaign is expected to help two other younger candidates for the GOP nomination, Chrisopher "Kit" Bond, state auditor, and Gene McNary, prosecutor of St. Louis County.

Mayors Hear McGovern, Muskie, and Humphrey

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Hubert H. Humphrey proposed today that mayors get a role in the federal budget process. George McGovern promised to restore faith in government. Edmund S. Muskie said President Nixon's foreign policy postpones relief for the cities.

The three senators, all seeking the Democratic presidential nomination, addressed the mayors and representatives of 350 cities at the U.S. Conference of Mayors annual meeting.

The candidates outlined their remedies for city problems to an audience that contained a number of mayors critical of them for not addressing urban problems more fequently.

On his first campaign swing since he dropped out of the primaries, Muskie of Maine led off with criticism of Nixon's foreign policy.

In his prepared remarks, Muskie said, "It is ironic that our national government, which insists on winning, or creating the illusion of winning, a war 10,000 miles away, seems willing to surrender our nation's cities without a struggle."

He said that despite Nixon's strategic arms limitation agreements with the Soviet Union, the Pentagon budget requests are "already up $13 billion from what was appropriated last year."

These developments, Muskie said, "put the hopes for relief of our cities just that much farther away."

In his prepared text, Humphrey of Minnesota proposed that local, state and county officials be included in the federal government's budget process through a system of budget hearings around the country by the federal Office of Management and Budget and major departments of the federal government.

"Right now, mayors and city officials, supervisors, city managers, county officials, governors and the people are closed out of the federal government's budget processes," Humphrey said.

"Decisions are made every day about your city by faceless bureaucrats in Washington. You are seldom consulted. Your true needs are often ignored. You and the people end up living with decisions you had no part in making," Humphrey said.

McGovern of South Dakota said in his prepared remarks, "Tens of millions of Americans have lost faith in government. We need leadership in Washington that will convince the average citizen of our cities that his government is being run for his benefit and is working to make his life better."

Bicycle-Auto Mishap Causes Minor Injuries

DEXTER — Randy Riley, 11, received minor injuries Monday at 2:45 p.m. when he rode his bicycle into the side of a car driven by Jane D. Davis of Dexter.

The boy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. David Medlin, also of Dexter.

According to police, the Davis car halted at a four-way stop at Stoddard and Walnut streets, then proceeded through the intersection when the Riley boy rode into the side of the car. He was taken to a local physician, treated for cuts and scratches and released.

Home In Risco Area Burglarized

RISCO — The David Johnson home, four and one-half miles north of here, was burglarized sometime between Wednesday and Sunday night while the family was away.

Items reported stolen include a stereo set, 50- piece cookware set, 25- piece silverware set, bedspread, two table lamps, and a three and one- half horsepower outboard motor.

Deputy Sheriff Bo Wingo said a back door latch was knocked off and the door kicked in to gain entry. A suspect is in custody for investigation.

Scott Banks Not Getting Fair Share, Morris Charges

Scott County banks should be receiving a higher percentage of state funds, L.E. Morris of Jefferson City charged today in a statement to The Daily Standard.

He pledged to ask the legislature to enact laws whereby every pennny of the stater revenue of all department would come through the treasurers office. Under his proposal, no monies would be taken out of the state, such as government bonds, but would remain in the state and invested in the banks of Missouri. Every county would share equally percapita.

Morris, a candidate for the Democratic nomination for state treasurer, said Scott County has a population of 33,250, which is .7107 per cent of the state population.

"This percentage will determine the amount of money to be placed in your county banks, and as of 1970-71 fiscal year should run around $948,267. You are not getting it.

Scott County has seven banks. The county now has $165,000 in state funds.

"Your share should be $948,267 or approximately $135,467 for each of your banks," Morris said. "As far as I am concerned Scott County is $783,268 short and multiplying this by five is a loss of $3,916,335 in the economy of your community. Every businessman and banker will tell you that every dollar invested in a community will produce five times that amount in the economy.

"I am only interested in getting Scott County their fair share, as well as all the other counties, their tax monies, back to the county where it came from and not to a few counties trying to hog it all, making millionaires of themselves at the expense of the miseries of the poor. Scott County has two banks with state funds. Five banks have none," Morris declared.

Ann Landers

Telephone Operators Too Busy To Eavesdrop

Dear Ann Landers: I'm middle-aged, middle-class, born and raised in a small town, but now I live in Cincinnati. I'm what you'd call Mrs. Middle America.

My husband and I live in a quadrangle. There are eight families in this compound and six of them have dogs. We do not. Neither my husband nor I had a dog when we were children. Perhaps this explains my ignorance, but I can't figure out why people go to so much trouble, not to mention the expense.

During the winter our neighbors slog through the snow in below - zero weather to walk their mutts. All summer, I see these same idiots driving pets to the veterinarians for grooming and shots. Whe. a dog is sick it's just like a child. They stay up all night to give the animal medicine.

One of our neighbors went to the expense of having her dog driven to Florida because he had ear trouble and couldn't fly. That dog had a mink coat and hat. Fifty million Americans can't be crazy. What's the answer? Why do they bother? --- The Rugs In My Home Are Beautiful.

Hello Beautiful: Some behavioral authorities say that a dog offers middle-aged and older people permanent parenthood. No matter how old the dog gets he still needs to be fed, bathed, and combed and petted. Children grow up and become independent (and often rebellious), but when a dog is trained he is obedient and respectful and he stays that way.

Best of all, when you come home from a hard day's work, some members of the family bark at you --- but your dog wags his tail and lets you know he's glad you are home.

Dear Ann Landers: I know I speak for thousands of people across this great land of ours --- and I hope you will be good enough to print my letter.

I am fed up with nosey switchboard operators who make a hobby of listening in on private telephone calls. It sc happens that I am not leading a double life, I have nothing to hide, and I have never said anything on the phone that I wish I hadn't. All the same, it's pretty darned annoying to know that some nosey broad can amuse herself by listening in on my personal conversations.

Since everyone reads your column I hope you will print this letter. Those operators who are guilty will know I mean them and maybe they will lay off. ---Lover Of Privacy

Dear Lover: Most switchboard operators need two more hands, four more ears and another mouth to keep up with the demanding job. They couldn't care less about private conversations. Granted, there might be one or two Nosey Nora's in the crowd, but the vast majority of switchboard operators are too busy for eavesdropping.

Dear Ann Landers: You have said in your column that divorced children have no right to expect their parents to take care of them indefinitely --- that a temporary "helping hand" is O.K. but moving in and acting like an adolescent after a marriage collapses is for the birds. What about a mother-in-law who at the age of 48 files for divorce and wants to move in with her son and his wife?

I like my mother-in-law very much and in my opinion she should have left her husband years ago, but I don't want her living with us. My husband has told me the decision is mine --- he'll agree to anything I decide. This means I have to accept full responsibility for a negative answer. What should I do? --- Scairdy Kat

Dear Kat: Say no on the grounds that she should have her own place --- even if it's a rented room --- where SHE can be boss.

What's the story on pot, L.S.D., cocaine, uppers and downers, speed? Can you handle it if you're careful? Send for Ann Landers' new booklet, "Straight Dope on Drugs." For each booklet ordered send a dollar bill, plus a long self-addressed stamped envelope (16 cents postage) to Ann Landers, Box 3346, Chicago, Ill. 60654.

APPEARING IN Little Theatre's production of the comedy, "Never Too Late," will be, from left, Betty Harris, Thedamay Cleek and Lee Crites. The show will be staged Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights at 8 p.m. in the Activity Center.

Bennett-Hays

MALDEN — The wedding of Miss Dorothy Jean Hays and Robert Eugene Bennett was solemnized May 27 at Grace Lutheran Church. The Rev. Alvin H. Lange performed the double- ring ceremony.

The bride is daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Hays of Malden, and parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Ray G. Bennett of Cape Girardeau.

Mrs. K. W. Riley, organist, provided the program of prenuptial music and accompanied Miss Mary Jean Riley as she sang "Oh Perfect Love."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of sheer- ganza nad Venice lace. The fitted bodice featured a high neckline and short puffed sleeves banded in lace. The A-line silhouette skirt ended in a wide ruffled flounce which was trimmed with lace motifs.

A profile cap of lace held secure her chapel- length mantilla of imported illusion which was bordered with matching lace and she carried a colonial bouquet of red roses.

Mrs. Joyce Drew of Poplar Bluff, sister of the bride, was the matron of honor and the bridesmaids were Miss Judy Woodruff of Bourbon, Miss Linda Strelow of St. Louis and Miss Joan Hays, sister of the bride.

The bridegroom chose his brother, Harvey Bennett of Sulphur, La., to serve as best man. Wynn Bolinger and Jerry Snell of Cape Girardeau and David Roth of Belleville, Ill., brother- in- law of the bride, were groomsmen, and Billy Hays, brother of the bride, served as usher and candlelighter.

A reception was held immediately after the ceremony in the home of the bride's parents.

Miss Marlene Luecker of Parma and Miss Judy Barton of Cape Girardeau served the guests and Miss Lueker had charge of the guest book.

The bride, a graduate of Malden High School, graduated from Southeast Missouri State College at Cape Girardeau in May. She will continue her education at Concordia Teachers College at Seward.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Central High School in Cape Girardeau and attended State College. He also will be a student at Concordia College in Seward.

Out- of- town guests for the wedding included: Mrs. Harvey Bennett of Sulphur, La.; Mrs. Leola Doeling of Steelville, Ill.; Mrs. Kelly Gaither and Mrs. David Roth and children of Belleville, Ill.; Mrs. Louis Fowler and Mary of Bloomfield; Mrs. Louise Lueker and Marlene of Parma; Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Drew of Qulin; Miss Pam Gempel of Charleston; Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Woodruff of Bourbon, Mo.; Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Greisel and children of Neosho; Mrs. Clara Pfenninghausen of Portageville; Ken Lentz of Mounds, Ill.; Trudy Barton, Jim Rhode, Miss Beth Schmucker, Linda Kinsey, Barbara Sadler, Gary Sadler, Bob Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Stan Snell and Mrs. Marilyn Gaither all of Cape Girardeau, and Miss Linda Schwartzmeyer and Miss Heidi Slegmann of St. Louis.

Rainwater-Henry

BLOOMFIELD — Janet B. Henry of Bloomfield became the bride of Robert D. Rainwater of Puxico at 2 p.m. June 10, in the General Baptist Church.

Miss Henry is daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Henry of Bloomfield and Rainwater is son of the Rev. and Mrs. W. R. Rainwater of Puxico Route Two.

Ray Duffey performed the double ring ceremony before an altar with the center arch candelabra entwined with greenery, blue candles with blue bows and baskets of white and blue mums on each side.

Miss Patricia Ross, pianist, played "Theme From Love Story," "Theme From Romeo And Juliet," "More," and "One Hand, One Heart." Terry Bowling, vocalist, sang "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white crepe, floorlength gown with long full sleeves, with wide cuffs and a high neckline with standup collar. The empire waistline was slightly gathered. Her bridal veil was attached to a full length train, accented with white lace trim attached to a white bow head piece. Her bridal bouquet was a cascade of white daisies.

Miss Lavern Capps of Dexter was maid of honor.

Marvin Rainwater, served as best man. Stephen Henry, brother of the bride, was the candlelighter and also served as usher with Dale Worley.

Mrs. DeWayne Shipman was at the guest book.

Serving at the reception were Mrs. DeWayne Shipman, Mrs. John Jenkins, Mrs. Paul Cannon and Miss Kay Rainwater.

The bride is a graduate of Bloomfield High School and Southeast Missouri State College, Cape Girardeau, and is teaching in the elementary school in Bloomfield.

The groom is a graduate of Greenville high school and has spent four years in the Navy. He is attending Southeast Missouri State College and is serving as pastor of BrushCreek Missionary Baptist Church.

Miss Duke Married To Michael Lynn

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Alan Lynn

Lighted tapers and arrangements of white snapdragons and daisies decorated the altar of North Acres General Baptist Church for the marriage of Marsha Lynne Duke and Michael Alan Lynn June 10 at 7 p.m. The Rev. Lester Clayton, pastor, performed the double-ring ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Buddy Duke of Paducah, Ky., are parents of the bride, and Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Lynn of Sikeston are parents of the groom.

Pre-nuptial music was provided by Mrs. Steve Shell, who also accompanied Bill Myers, soloist. The first selection, "Each for the Other," was rendered after the candles were lighted by Miss Jennifer Duke, sister of the bride who was gowned in blue. "The Wedding Prayer," was sung at the end of the ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a formal gown of oyster shell satin overlaid with re-embroidered lace which feature a Victorian neckline and fitted bodice that opened to the empire waist. Tiny satin-covered buttons and loop closures lined the front of the bodice. Dainty lace framed the high collar which buttoned in the front. Long bishop sleeves of lace were cuffed with satin and lace and the button and loop closures were accented by dainty lace edging. A satin bias band trimmed the empire waist. The long detachable train was of satin and lace.

Her three-tiered, elbow-length veil of illusion was attached to a headpiece of pearl-encrusted lace. The bridal bouquet was of white daisies and baby's breath, centered with white sweetheart roses and white streamers tied in lover's knots. The gown was fashioned by the bride's mother.

The bride was preceded down the aisle by Miss Becky Thomason, of Charleston, cousin of the groom who was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Paul Schiwitz, sister of the groom, Sikeston; and Miss Laura Duke, sister of the bride. Miss Stephanie Myers was the flower girl.

The attendants and flowergirl wore identical floor-length gowns of blue-flocked, floral-print dotted swiss lined with solid blue. The old-fashioned gowns were styled with empire waist, fitted bodice, blue ribbon sashes, high neckline and long puffed sleeves with wide cuffs. The headpieces were shoulder-legnth blue tulle falling from large blue bows with daisy trim. Each attendant carried a cnosegay of blue daisies and baby's breath and the flower girl carried a white basket filled with blue daisies.

Lynn chose as his best man, Joel Allen of Sikeston. Groomsmen were Joe Holt, Benton, and Paul Dollar, Sikeston. Ushers were Gary Houston, cousin of the bride, Festus , and Jimmy Rolwing, cousin of the groom, Charleston. The ringbearer was Ricky Lynn, cousin of the groom, Karnak, Ill.

Mrs. Duke, mother of the bride, wore a pale yellow floral dress with matching solid yellow coat. Her ensemble was complemented with beige accessories. Mrs. Lynn, mother of the groom, was attired in a blue dress with maching jacket with white accessories. Both mothers wore white rose corsages.

Grandmother of the bride, Mrs. Homer Humphrey and Mrs. Elbert Duke wore white rose corsages. Grandparents of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Thomason and Mrs. Clyde Lynn, Sr., also wore white roses and all were given places of honor for the ceremony.

Miss Cindy Davis, cousin of the bride, presided at the satin-covered guest table

The five tiered wedding cake cake was decorated with blue flowers, and topped with a miniature bride and groom. The cake was designed and baked by Mrs. Tyre Brown of Bell City. She, along with Mrs. John Davis, aunt of the bride, were in charge of the reception. Servers were Miss Sharon Morrow of Bertrand, Miss Janie Hodges of Charleston Mrs. Gary Houston of Festus, cousin of the bride, and Miss Linda Pobst, cousin of the groom, Commerce.

The reception room was decorated in the bride's color with the gift table being covered with a lace cloth over blue with wedding bells and blue streamers over the table. The bride's wedding bells and blue streamers over the table. The bride's table was covered with a white cloth, using crystal candelabra with blue tapers. The silver wedding knife was adorned with white net bow and daisy. The serving table was covered with white with accents of blue net, and the silver service and crystal punch bowl were placed there with silver candeholders and blue tapers.

Passing our rice bags during the reception were Misses Rhonda and Pam Davis , cousin of the bride.

The new Mrs. Lynn chose a monogrammed blue knit dress with long torso, full skirt, pleated sleeves and long matching vest, and white rose corsage for her going-away ensemble. After a short honeymoon trip to the Ozarks, the couple now live on Sikeston Route Two.

The rehearsal dinner was given at Midtowner Restaurant by the groom's parents June 9.

Golf Comments
By Riggs Wesley
SEMO Golf Association Secretary

Rodney Shell of Cape Girardeau and Mike Burke of St. Louis shot a joint effort of a 140 to top competition in the championship round of the June 17-18 Bloomfield Country Club Men's Four-Ball Tournament. Jerry Throgmorton and Jim Warf Jr., both of Sikeston, took second in the championship with a score of 141. Third place went to the team of Gene Dawson and Tom Dawson of Sikeston with a 143. Tom Wright and Earl Wilt took the upper hand in a sudden death playoff to win fourth with 144 points. The loss in the playoff went to the fifth place team of Jack Estes and David Agey of Dexter.

Teams in four other classes battled the 36 holes, but information on winners was unavailable.

Flood Strikes Out

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

For the third time in 50 years, the U.S. Supreme Court has refused to overturn baseball's unique status as the only sport exempt from antitrust laws.

The highest court in the land thus threw the matter back at a seemingly disinterested Congress, which has adopted none of the more than 50 bills introduced in the last two decades to change baseball's reserve system which binds a player to one team indefinitely.

In a 5-3 ruling Monday against a suit brought by former outfielder Curt Flood, the court's refusal to redefine the reserve clause raised the possibility of another and more massive general strike next spring than the one which delayed the start of the 1972 baseball season for more than a week.

"Technically, it is a subject for collective bargaining," said Richard Moss, counsel for the Major League Baseball Players Association. "But practically, it is the subject for a strike, a long strike. You either forget it or strike over it, and both are unfortunate courses."

The so-called basic agreement between players and owners expires Dec. 31, along with pension and health insurance agreements reached after the recent strike in April. The basic agreement covers minimum salary, expenses and many other rules.

One baseball executive, asking to remain unidentified, said, "I hope we're intelligent enough—players and management alike—to negotiate this before we're forced to do it."

That power rests with Congress. But Justice Harry A. Blackmun, delivering the Supreme Court's majority opinion, noted that Congress has had a long time to do something about it and said the fact that it did nothing indicates more than "mere Congressional silence and passivity."

In fact, he said, the Supreme Court "has concluded that Congress has had no intention to subject baseball's reserve system to the reach of the antitrust statutes."

Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn said the decision "opens the way for renewed collective bargaining on the reserve system following the 1972 season."

Exactly what the players want was expalined by Milt Pappas, player representative of the Chicago Cubs:

"The ruling doesn't make a lot of difference and the players were not looking to make utter chaos, which complete elimination of the reserve clause would do. However, some owners now have an idea how the players feel.

"What we are going to seek at the meeting table is an agreement that will give veteran players some freedom in negotiating.

Woods Searches For Gold

SHS GRADUATE George Woods was the subject of a feature story in the June 19 issue of Sports Illustrated.

George Woods, former Sikeston High School star athlete and a member of the 1968 United States Olympic team, is the subject of a feature story on track and field in the June 19 issue of Sports Illustrated.

Woods, who was a three-year grid letterman at SHS from 1958-60 and whose teams posted a 27-3 record through the period, returned to throwing the 16- pound ball after a series of injuries slowed the big 300- pounder.

The article compares the husky Missourian to the two top shot put throwers in the nation, Randy Matson and Al Feuerbach.

"People kept asking who Woods was. Finally I figured it was time to show them," Woods told Pat Putnam, author of the article.

Early this month the 29-year old admissions counselor at Southern Illinois Universitsity began his drive toward the Olympics by heaving the ball 70 feet, 1¾ inches, his career best. Only Matson, who has the world record of 71' 5½", and Feuerbach, who did 70' 3½" earlier this year, have also surpassed the 70-foot barrier.

Woods told Sports Illustrated that he was convinced that except for a wrist injury he would have beaten Matson in the '68 Olympics. In 1968 Woods had surged from 62 feet to 69 in practice and figured he had the gold medal wrapped up. Then he injured his wrist.

"Randy winning in Mexico City with a throw of only 67' 4¾" was a big disappointment to me," he said. "I had won the trials with a 68-footer, but I hurt my wrist weight lifting. During the trials I had a cortisone shot and the wrist was taped. At Mexico City the drug rule nixed the cortisone and everybody said I couldn't tape my wrist, so I didn't.

"Then in the Games some European comes in with tape and I asked an official what goes. He pulled out a doctor's certificate and said that's all the guy needed. It still galls me. Nobody, no doctors, no team manager told me that and they all knew how badly I needed my wrist taped.

"That sure put me in a good mood for the rest of the day. My first throw was 66' ¼". I skipped the second, my third was terrible and I passed two of my three throws in the finals. I'll have a doctor's certificate this time whether I want to use tape or not," Woods told Sports Illustrated.

After the Olympics, Woods gave up a shot for a try at pro football. He trimmed down to 275 pounds and he could run 40 yards in five seconds flat, but when the St. Louis Cardinals wanted him to be a defensive tackle they decided he was too short. He said forget it.

"Alex Karras was a pretty good defensive tackle and he was only 6-2," Woods said. "But even after football fell through, I didn't want any part of the shot put. I was too mentally exhausted. I just wanted to quit. Then last year the old hunger came back. That was before Feuerbach was known and I didn't want to have it too easy," Woods was quoted as saying to Putnam.

In his first 1971 meet, Woods injured a finger and was out for the year. But this year he has been nothing short of sensational. "Now it's just a race with the clock," he said. "The injuries are stacking up and I'm trying to hold myself together until after the Games. I don't want another silver medal. I intend to win the gold and then I'm going to hang it up and when my kids are big enough I'm going to point to it and show them the old man went out on top."

The following is a direct copy from Sports Illustrated:

Before Woods goes, there is still the matter of a gold medal and last weekend he more than proved his worth. At the Vons Classic he won over Matson (69' 6¼") and Feuerbach (69' 3¾") with a put of 70'¼", the only time in the history of the event that three men have exceeded 69 feet. "And it was a rotten throw," he said. "I was open and it was all arm speed." At the Kennedy Games, Woods won again, this time with a 69'½" to Feuerbach's 68'9¼" and Matson's 68'8¼".

"I guess you can say that Randy is back," said Feuerbach in Los Angeles after watching Matson get three throws over 69 feet. "He's going to be one tough hombre from now on." Feuerbach shook his head over his own performance. He had opened with a 67 plus, and except for his 69 and change, he hadn't done much better.

"Hey, Al," said Woods, "what's with the 67? Were you trying to psych me?"

"Well," said Feuerbach, "I had a plan. The first throw was supposed to be 67. Then I was going to add a foot onto each of the next five. Sixty- eight, 69, 70, 71 and then, boom, a big 72."

"What happened?"

Feuerbach laughed. "I forgot the plan."

Cards Washout

Rain stopped the San DiegoSt. Louis baseball game Monday night at St. Louis after two scoreless innings, making the second rain-out in a row for pitcher Bob Gibson.

Sports Brief

PROVO, Utah (AP) — Brigham Young University's star junior split end Golden Richards will not be playing football next year because he failed to meet the necessary academic standards.

Richards, a junior, led the nation in punt returns last season and tied an NCAA record for touchdowns by punt returns in one season with four.

NEW YORK (AP) — Jack Nicklaus, winner of the U.S. Open at Pebble Beach, Calif., this weekend, has opened a lead of nearly $60,000 over his nearest rival in professional golf's money-winning race, according to statistics released Monday by the PGA Tournament Players Division.

Nicklaus earned $30,000 for his three-stroke victory in the Open, boosting his year's total to $186,051. That's nearly $25,000 more than he had won at this point last year, when he set a money record of $244,490 for the year, and it's the highest figure ever recorded by any golfer through the Open.

Second on the money list—but a distant second—is Lee Trevino, who has earned $126,072. Jerry Heard is third with $114,528, George Archer fourth with $107,763 and Tom Weiskopf fifth with $103,429.

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — The New York Yankees blasted 14 hits but had to come from behind Monday night for an 11inning 8-6 victory over the Syracuse Chiefs, their International League farm club.

The Chiefs became the first International League team to lose to a parent club in exhibition baseball play this season.

The Chiefs took a 4-0 lead on Danny Walton's three-run homer.

Beware of Astros' Pitching!

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Pittsburgh Pirates blasted their way out of a rut Monday night, but the Houston Astros have found a groove they'd like to stay in.

The Pirates, shut out by San Diego 4-0 and 1-0 in their last two starts and scoreless for 23 innings, erupted for 16 hits—including home runs by Roberto Clemente, Gene Alley and Al Oliver—and pasted the Los Angeles Dodgers 13-3.

The Astros, meanwhile, got their second consecutive one-hit pitching performance when Larry Dierker limited New York to a lone single as Houston defeated the Mets 3-0 for the Astros' fifth straight victory.

As a result, Pittsburgh moved back into first place in the National League East by one-half game over the Mets, while the Astros pulled within a half-game of first-place Cincinnati in the NL West. The Reds were blanked by Montreal 2-0.

In the only other National League baseball action, the Chicago Cubs nipped San Francisco 7-6 in 11 innings. Philadelphia's game at Atlanta and San Diego's contest at St. Louis were rain ed out.

In the Ame rican League, Boston bombed Texas 12-0, California edged Baltimore 4-3 and Oakland beat Detroit 7-3. Cleveland's game at Minnesota was rained out, while the New York Yankees, Milwaukee, Kansas City and Chicago White Sox were not scheduled.

Oliver and Cl emente drove in three runs apiece for the Pirates, whose .284 team batting average is tops in the majors. The three RBI moved Clemente into first place on the all-time Pirate list with 1,275, two more than Hall of Famer Pie Traynor.

Pittsburgh ended its scoreless streak with two runs in the first inning off Don Stutton, 8-2— with both losses coming at the hands of the Pirates. The Bucs added three more runs in the fifth, one in the sixth, three in the seventh and four in the eighth.

"It really didn't matter who was pitching out there tongiht," declared Oliver. "This team is loaded with talent, confidence and pride, and it just wanted to show the people something."

Meanwhile, at the Astrodome, Dierker showed the Houston fans something, too, duplicating Jerry Reuss' one-hit effort against the Phillies Sunday. It was only the eighth time backto-back one-hitters have been pitched.

The lone safety off Dierker, 6-4, was a third inning single by Duffy Dyer.

Houston scored twice in the seventh on run-scoring singles by Lee May and Tommy Helms, then added another run in the ninth on another RBI single by May.

Montreal's Bill Stoneman shut out the Cincnnnati Reds on four singles, while Tim Foli and Ron Woods drove in the Expos' runs with sacrifice flies.

The Cubs posted their sixth straight victory and moved within 2 1/2 games of the lead in the NL East when Glenn Beckert doubled home Don Kessinger in the 11th inning. Jim Hickman and Ron Santo had two-run homers for the Cubs while Garry Maddox hit a three-run blast for the Giants.

Reggie Smith clouted two home runs and drove in five runs and Sonny Siebert hurled a three-hitter as Boston whipped Texas. Siebert, 7-3, had a no-hitter until Ted Kubiak hit a pinch-double leading off the sixth inning. Rico Petrocelli and Danny Cater also homered for Boston.

The Angels overtook the Orioles with three runs in the sixth inning on a two-run triple by Lee Stanton and an RBI single by Leo Cardenas. Bobby Grich hit a two-run homer for Baltimore while Ken McMullen homered for California.

Mike Epstein hit a pair of home runs, then drew a walk with the bases loaded in the eighth inning to force across the tie-breaking run for Oakland. Norm Cash hit his 15th homer of the season for the Tigers.

Torre Tops Vote

NEW YORK (AP) — Johnny Bench, the major league home run leader, has taken the lead for the catcher's spot in the National League voting for baseball's All-Star Game at Atlanta July 25.

Third baseman Joe Torre of St. Louis, first baseman Lee May of Houston, second baseman Glenn Beckert of the Chicago Cubs and shortstop Bud Harrelson of the Mets continue to top the voting for their positions. Torre had the most votes of any, 154,172.

The star of the Cincinnati Reds took over the No. 1 spot from Pittsburgh's catcher, Manny Sanguillen, in last week's balloting announced Monday by commissioner Bowie Kuhn.

Bench had a total of 130,823 votes to 88,868 for Sanguillen

The only other change came with Willie Mays of the New York Mets climbing to third place among the outfielders behind Hank Aaron of Atlanta and Roberto Clemente of Pittsburgh. Aaron leads with 153,400 votes. Clemente has 128,309 and Mays 107,178.

Little Leagues Continue Hectic Pace

In a full night of baseball Monday night, all three Sikeston Little League divisions were busy at the Puckett, Farris and Ralph playing fields.

One hundred and thirty - three boys in the three Little Leagues saw action on the 12 teams that played.

Crowds at all parks were mediocre, but busy as ever as activities ran until about 11 p.m. at most parks.

In Musial league play, Todd Laundry and Collins Construction came away with wins. Todd utilized a 10-run first inning to coast past Rotary 13-11 in the opener. Collins collected the nightcap decision over Sikeston Standard in a 8-6 contest.

In American League play at Farris Field, Caproco downed Sealtest, 11-1 in the opening contest. Fabick in a come - from-behind effort, downed Ziegenhorn Insurance 12-9 in the final contest.

Lewis Furniture and A and B Leasing came away victors in National League battles at Puckett Field. Lewis blasted Security National, 10-1 in the opener, while A & B eased past Legion in the nightcap on a 5-2 note.

MUSICAL LEAGUE — In the opener, Todd Laundry collected five walks and dealt Rotary pitching four hits to score 10 runs in the opening frame. Todd added three more runs in the third and fought off Rotary's constant comeback bid and won the game 13-11.

Winning pitcher Williams checked the Rotary lineup on six hits, and connected for two of the Todd safeties, including a triple. Todd shortstop Bell went three for three at the plate.

Sanders opened on the mound and was relieved by Rotary's King who took the loss. Sanders and Kyle belted two safeties each.

In the nightcap the Collins catcher, Harper, belted a first inning home run that put the Construction squad into the lead. The Standard knotted the score at 2-all in the top half of the second frame but Collins regained the lead and went on to win 8-6.

Collins' Self went three for three and scored three runs for the winners. Harper, Butler and Dock blasted the Standard pitching for two hits each.

Sikeston Standard's McDonald knocked a double and a single to pace the losers at the plate. Long suffered the loss and McDowell gained the win from the mound.

AMERICAN LEAGUE — Caproco connected for 13 hits in the opener and blasted Sealtest, 11-1, behind the three-hit pitching of Marcum. Malcolm and catcher Griffin paced the Caproco lineup with three hits each. Four runs in each of the last two innings padded the earlier 3-1 lead over Sealtest. DeCota, Bar and losing pitcher Lane had the loser's only three hits.

In the second game played at Farris Field, Ziegenhorn botched an early 9-1 lead and fell victim to an 11-run comeback and a 12-9 Fabick victory. Ziegenhorn outhit the winners, 9-3, but handed the game to the eventual winners on errors.

Gator, Angle and Fulton paced the Ziegenhorn batters with two hits each. Lewis suffered the loss.

Launius picked up the win for Fabick, and joined teammates Keefer and Garrett to connect for the only three hits.

NATIONAL LEAGUE — Lewis Furniture pitcher Francis struck out 13 batsmen and held Security National Bank to five hits as Lewis picked up the opener at Puckett Field, 10-1. Lewis's Bohannon and Pollard each had three hits while shortstop David belted a four-thinning, two-run home run.

Losing pitcher K. Young connected for one of the five Bank hits. Hockersmith added a double to the cause.

Legion Hurler Lawrence struck out 14 batters, but lacked run-scoring backing and fell victim to A and B Leasing's 5-2 nightcap victory. A and B sent one runner home in each of the game's six innings except the fifth to build up the three-run lead. Errors hurt Legion as the winners' lineup was good for only two hits.

Watson picked up the five-hit win for A and B and Lawrence was handed the loss.

Stokes Throws 2-Hit Shutout

Kenny Stokes fired a two-hit shutout for David and Byrd in Monday night's Junior Babe Ruth play as his team dropped Nowell Real Estate, 2-0. Sngles in the third and seventh innings marred the hurler's performance.

Stokes shut down the Nowell lineup on 13 strikeouts and saved the shutout with a last-inning third out on a play at the plate.

Home Materials jumped into an early 3-0 lead in the first two innings of play in the Junior division nightcap, and held Hart's Bread to a single run for a 3-1 victory. Winning pitcher Echols checked the Hart's Bread batters on 10 strikeouts and four hits.

In the opening game, Stokes proved to be the difference as the two runs Davis and Byrd scored in the second inning were all he needed to move Davis and Byrd into the winner's column. Catcher David Shell connected for three hits in the winner's lineup.

In the last game, Hart's Break outhit the winners, 4-3, but was unable to find the key to scoring runs. Echols went the distance for Home for the win from the mound. Jerrell and Thompson shared the pitching duties. Starter Jerrell suffered the loss on a three=hit performance.

K.C. Labor Group Backs Dowd

KANSAS CITY -- The political arm of the Greater Kansas City Central Labor Council, AFL-CIO has endorsed Edward L. Dowd for Governor. Announcement of the endorsement came from the office of executive secretary- treasurer of the council, Don E. Waterman.

The recommendation for endorsement came as a surprise for many political observers in Kansas City, as Dowd is opposed by two Kansas City Democrats seeking the nomination. Dowd leads a list of 43 candidates that have been recommended by the Committee on Political Education for labor's endorsement in the Kansas City area.

Dowd, a former St. Louis circuit attorney and FBI agent was endorsed last week when Communications Workers of America Local 6360 met in Lees Summit, Missouri. The Central Labor Council endorsement marks the second organized labor group to offer the support of the candidate in the Kansas City area.

HOW THE CHILDREN STOPPED THE WARS
by Jan Wahl
(Camelot ZN90/95c
96 pp.)

War is the sanguinary province of adults and so Jan Wahl imagines the day it all came to an end with his fable that explains HOW THE CHILDREN STOPPED THE WARS.

A young shepherd's father has been away fighting in battle for so long that it seems he must be dead. But to prevent that from actually happening, the boy devises a plan to bring warfare to a halt. Children by the hundreds join him on a dangerous journey to the battlefront where their great love reminds the fathers of the warmth and happiness they have forgotten as they have continued their savage wars.

Whimsical illustrations by Mitchell Miller accompany the story published in Avon's new large format Camelot Book line for the young reader.

"The book is written with grace and guile, a potent message ia fanciful disguise." -- Saturday Review

"Beautifully written - an important book that will stick in the minds of readers -- whatever their ages might be." -- McCall's

LINNETS AND VALERIANS
by Elizabeth Godge
(Camelot ZN91/95c
288pp.)

In Elizabeth Godge's LINNETS AND VALERIANS, all sorts of magical goings- on enrapture the four Linnet children. Living with their uncle after they had fled from their grandmother's disciplinary home, they meet the man who talks to bees and they also meet the nasty witch responsible for all the unpleasantnesses in the small English town. The witch had placed a spell on their neighbors, the Valerians, splitting the family apart. But through ingenious ploys and their desire to rebuild happiness where it no longer exists, the adventurous Linnets solve all the problems and succeed in cultivating joy.

LINNETS AND VALERIANS, named "An American Library Association Notable Book," is the first of Elizabeth Goudge's only two books for young readers to be published by Avon as large format Camelot Books. The second, THE LITTLE WHITE HORSE, will be published in the summer. Miss Goudge is the author of many adult bestsellers including GREEN DOLPHIN STREET and CHILD FROM THE SEA.

"Elizabeth Goudge is always young at heart, blending fantasy and fact with the sure touch of a born storyteller. An entrancing tale."

What's The Law?

The Case Of The Cheerful Criminal

By Jack Strauss, LL. B.

Horace took life cheerfully. He rubbed out several people during a holdup attempt without the least bit of hestitation. And, after being tried for the crime, he was sentenced to be executed and, in fact, he was executed.

Shortly thereafter, Horace's widow appeared at the offices of an insurance company and demanded payment on an insurance policy that Horace had taken out on his life and in which he had named his wife as sole beneficiary.

"Taking out that policy," she told arepresentative of the insurance company, "was the only good thing Horace ever did."

"And, even that's no good," was the insurance company's answer. "Obviously, we can't pay off on the policy since it would be against the best interests of society to do so. If a man is executed for knocking off several people, he shouldn't be allowed to benefit from his wrongful act."

Sent away emtpy handed, Horace's widow took the matter to court where she demanded payment under the life policy.

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you order the insurance company to pay-off on cheerful Horace's life insurance policy.

This is how the judge ruled: YES! The judge held that payment under Horace's life insurance policy was not against public policy since it could in no way benefit Horace. Being dead, observed the judge, nothing could benefit him. (Based upon a 1956 United States District Court Decision)

'People Puzzle' Had Earmarks Of Pilot

NEW YORK (AP) -- "The Perpetual People Puzzle," ABC's Monday night special, was a grab-bag of entertainment - some songs, a dance number, a little satire, some comedy monologues, a sportscaster trying to be a comedian at his own expense, and right in the middle of all the action, a very moving dramatic vignette.

The hour program had all the earmarks of a pilot for a series. In structure, it was a cross between Public Broadcasting's "Great American Dream Machin" and NBC's "Laugh-In."

Singer - dancer Gwen Verdon opened the show with "Chicago"sung and danced in an airline terminal at Kennedy Airport in New York as some passengers stared wide-eyed. Miss Verdon and her fellow dancers wound up riding slowly around the big metal wheel from which passengers grab their luggage.

There was Richie Haven and his musical group with a couple of sad songs, and Jack Cassidy camping through a broad satire on TV's situation comedies.

Cutting in from start to finish was ABC's man about sports, Howard Cosell, reporting on a "Commuter 500" race. This was three working people - a girl on a motorcycle, a man on a train and a man in a car -- supposedly racing to get to the office first. Cosell's play-by-play and the race were supposed to be funny, and maybe they were for viewers who are Cosell fans.

And the drama: James Earl Jones played a freshly released ex-convict riding a bus back home and worrying about whether his wife wants him back. Three sympathetic fellow passengers bring him to the point of telling how, if she wants him back, there will be a yellow handkerchief tied to a tree near the bus stop.

It built nicely to a climax - a tree festooned with yellow banners.

A lot of the show didn't work at all, other portions seemed forced and self-conscious, but all through it were rewarding moments.

Best of all, it was an effort to do something in the variety form that has not been copied all over the place.

Dan Blocker's recent death has left a big hole in the basic structure of NBC's "Bonanaza." David Canary was brought back to the series almost immediately and Tim Matheson, once in "The Virginian" cast, will be introduced as a regular in the fourth or fifth episode of the fall season. He will play Griff King, an ex-convict brought to the ranch by Ben Cartwright. Young Mitch Vogel will continue as a regular for a third season.

But the Cartwright clan that began with four is down to two -- Lorne Greene and Michael Landon.

Jobless Pay $5.7 Million During May

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) -- Jobless Missouri workers got $5,755,281 in unemployment benefits during May -- 17.1 per cent less than April and 19.8 per cent less than May a year ago.

The figures were reported today by Herman Julien, state director of the Employment Security Division.

Kennett Man Invents Electro-Magnet Car

KENNETT -- A Kennett High School graduate has been credited with the invention of the first vehicle in the world to be lifted and propelled by electro- magnetic forces.

James A. Ross, son of Mrs. Carl Ross and the late Carl Ross, Kennett, an engineer with Rohr Industries of Chula Vista, Calif., headed the project and co- holds several of the Romag patents with Rohr. Ross is a Kennett High School graduate and was graduated from University of Missouri School of Engineering.

"Jim (Ross) is truly a genius, and I don't use that word lightly," said Keith Tantlinger, vice president of Rohr's industrial systems group. "He has given us the lead in still another transportation field, and in one that may prove to have the greatest significance."

Ross said the Romag feels "like you're riding on a six= sided wheel now, and the movements could be smoother, but this will get better in the months ahead. The ride will be quiet and completely smooth in the production models."

He said Romag can be built in any size, from small, personal rapid transit vehicles to large intercontinental ones, and that the system is adaptable to nearly all types of mass transit.

"We could build one vehicle that could go 10 to 20 miles an hour withing the cities and then up to 200 miles an hour between cities," he said. "We would require a different configuration for intercontinental or higher speed use, but the same system could be both personal transit and interurban transit."

The car is run by a single-sided electric linear motor attached to the bottom of the car body and hanging down beneath the guiderails, which look like lightweight railroad tracks.

When power is applied, a magnetic field is created, causing the motor to be attracted to the rail above it, raising the attached car body a fraction of an inch off the rails.

The air gap thus created is maintained during operations, providing a friction- free ride. At the same time, the vehicle is being lifted by magnetic forces, current being fed to the linear motor is varied to cause a magnetic field to move horizontally in relation to the guiderails, causing the Romag to go forward or backward.

"It is really very simple," Ross said. "You control the voltage to control the lift and you control the current frequency to control the propulsion."

Ross has worked in the field of power and electronics for 17 years, and he holds many patents for complicated electrical control systems. He has been working on Romag for two years.

Secretary Overstepped, Says Court

KANSAS CITY (AP) — A U.S. District Court judge ruled Monday that the secretary of transportation overstepped his authority when he withheld part of the funds allocated by the Highway Trust Fund to the state for the fiscal year 1973.

Judge William H. Becker held that the transportation secretary did not have the authority to impose contract controls or restrictions on highway fund appropriations received by Missouri.

The decision came in a suit filed by the state highway commission against John A. Volpe, secretary of transportation, and George P. Shultz, then the director of the Office of Management and Budget.

Robert L. Hyder, chief counsel for the highway commission, who filed the suit, contended the controversy arose when the Nixon administration moved to "cool the economy" by reducing appropriations to the state for highway development. Judge Baker's decision, if it is upheld by the appellate court, means that Missouri will be able to obligate about $89 million in highway contracts.

Attorneys for the Transportation Department contended the money sought by the state was not available.

Both Volpe and Shultz were directed to appear to show cause why they should not be forced to release all the federal highway money. Neither Volpe nor Shultz appeared.

Agnew Speaks To National Jaycee Group

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Evansgelist Billy Graham was scheduled to address the national convention of U.S. Jaycees today.

Vice President Spiro Agnew, speaking under tight security precautions, addressed the Jaycees Monday, saying the nation must continue the development of modern weapons systems for the military.

While he spoke, about 150 antiwar demonstrators marched on a sidewalk outside chanting, "Stop the bombing, end the war," as they hoisted a Viet Cong flag.

Secret Service agents allowed no one to enter or leave the auditorium while Agnew spoke and more than 50 helmeted policemen kept an eye on the demonstrators outside.

The vice president drew 10 rounds of applause during his 20-minute speech.

Bond Favors No-Fault Insurance

CARTHAGE, Mo. (AP) — State Auditor Christopher "Kit" Bond, Republican candidate for governor, said Tuesday he would support no-fault accident insurance if he is elected.

He said Missouri automobile owners, like those in Massachusetts, could realize signficant savings if the state had a nofault law.

In a speech prepared for delivery (6:30 p.m.) before the Lincoln Republican Women's Club in Carthage, Bond said lower premium prices have resulted in Massachuetts and added:

"There is no reason why this should not be the case in Missouri. In addition to the advantage of lower premium prices, automobile owners are able to avoid lengthy court suits and settle claims more quickly through no-fault insurance."

Boost Aid To Elderly, Says Eagleton

ST. LOUIS (AP)-- Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton, D-Mo., told the American Optometric Association convention Tuesday that the federal government should provide increased health benefits for the elderly.

Eagleton said more than 900 older persons become eligible for medicare each day.

He said he was hopeful that pending social security legislation would be amended to include optometry services under medicare. He urged the optometrist to cooperate with the federal overnment to help alleviate what he called the nation's health care crisis.

Eagleton said health care should be thought of as a basic right for everyone, "not just the privilege of a select few."

BARBS

By PHIL PASTORET

The 4th falls on a Tuesday this year, but too many will try to celebrate it with a fifth on the 1st, 2nd and 3rd.

Foresight is the attribute of a wise man; hindsight the attribute of a pretender.

o o o

A bargain is too often something the store wants to get rid of.

ZEROING IN—A jumper stretches for "dead center" during individual accuracy competition at the annual West Point (N.Y.) Invitational Sport Parachute Championships. More than 100 jumpers took part in the three day contest which was hosted by the U.S. Military Academy's First Battalion Sport Parachute Club. Competition was open to all active duty military personnel. (U.S. Army photo by Sp5 Craig Blurton)

The Summer 1972 issue of TIPS will be devoted exclusively to a detailed explanation of the enlisted personnel system — how it works and how to function within it.

Earl Braswell

The potato, a member of the botanical family, was once considered poisonous. Actually, when first introduced into Europe, many people shied away from the vegetable in the belief that it possessed harmful qualities. This feeling persisted until the latter half of the 18th Century ... According to experts, chins give an indication of character. A pointed chin, for example, often denotes craftiness; a protruding chin indicates tenacity; one that recedes indicated weakness of character; a small chin might indicate timidity, and a sign of self-restraint is a square chin.

The presence of lime spots, streaks, stains, or rings on bathroom fixtures, kitchen sinks, and dishes, indicates the presence of hard tap water. It's simple to remove these solids with a Miracle Water water refiner. The space-saving, attractive appliance can be set anywhere in your house and requires no attachments, and is available to rent or to buy.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Tuesday, June 20, the 172nd day of 1972. There re 194 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1789, the French Revolution began.

On this date:

In 1632, the English crown granted the colony of Maryland to Lord Baltimore.

In 1837, Victoria became queen of England on the death of her uncle, King William IV.

In 1863, West Virginia became the 35th state to be admitted to the Union.

In 1867, President Andrew Johnson proclaimed the treaty for the purchase of Alaska from Russia.

In 1898, the United States seized the island of Guam in the Spanish-American War.

In 1963, the United States and the Soviet Union agreed to establish the so-called "hot line" communications system between Washington and Moscow.

Ten years ago: West Berlin police were digging trenches along the Berlin wall to provide added cover against gunfire from East German guards.

Five years ago: A jury in Houston, Tex., found former heavyweight boxing champion Muhammad Ali guilty of refusing military induction and sentenced him to serve five years in prison and pay a $10,000 fine.

One year ago: A Russian space scientist who disappeared from his delegation at the Paris air show, Anatoly Fedoseyev, turned up in Britain and was granted permission to stay.

Dexter Man Named Insurance Executive

COLUMBIA — Ronald D. Borders of Dexter has been appointed executive secretary of the Missouri Association of Farm Mutual Insurance Companies, according to an announcement by William R. Robbins of Trenton, president of the association. Borders will be the first full- time executive officer in the 76- year history of the association.

New headquarters have also been established at 800 Providence Road in Columbia. Membership in the association includes 120 companies, serving about 250,000 policyholders with more than $3.5 billion insurance in force in every county in Missouri. Average age of the member companies is 78 years.

Borders is a native of Missouri with a farm background. He is 28, attended Southeast Missouri State College at Cape Girardeau and has had newspaper and radio experience. For five years he has been an insurance sales representative, independent agent and sales manager in Southeast Missouri.

County.

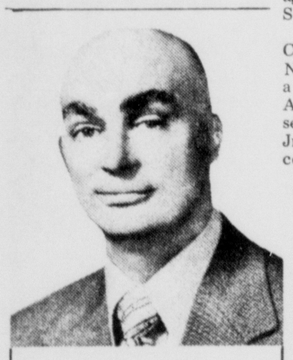

Tinnin, who favors Poplar Bluff as the headquarters location, further charged that Butler County voters were being "encouraged" by the New Madrid machine to make a "deal".

He was quoted in The Daily Democrat as saying "the voters there (Butler County) are being told by the machine that if they vote for Randall Ramsey and Bill Morris, both backed by the machine, then they can keep the patrol headquarters ..."

In reply to Tinnin's accusations, Hunter issued the following statement today to The Daily Standard:

"The selection of a location for Troop E headquarters of the highway patrol should be made by the highway patrol and the selection of the site should be made on its merit. It should be located at a site where it would most promote the efficiency of law enforcement in the whole Troop E area and, in addition, effectively save the taxpayers of Missouri the most tax dollars.

"It is my thought," Hunter continued, "that Sen. Tinnin did not necessarily take these matters into consideration when he excluded all locations except Poplar Bluff and did not give other areas an opportunity to make their offers."

LABELING OF INGREDIENTS IN COSMETICS IS NECESSARY

Since the beginning of history men and women have looked for ways to make themselves more attractive. In this century a multi- billion-dollar industry has been built on the hopes and dreams of millions of people that a touch of this and a dab of that will make them more appealing.

Most cosmetics are perfectly safe, if not always effective. But some have been known to do more than fail to provide sought- after beauty. Some produce severe allergic reactions. Others contain ingredients harmful to virtually all users -- a case in point being a nail- hardening product that was found to contain formaldehyde, a highly irritating chemical.

Under existing law, consumers have inadequate protection against these possibilities. The Food and Drug Administration cannot require pre- testing of cosmetics before they are marketed. They cannot even demand that the manufacturers list the ingredients. The F.D.A. can act to ban harmful products but only after some damage has been done. And the record shows that they have acted only infrequently.

Right to know

If a cosmetic contains an ingredient which may cause the buyer injury, he or she should be able to know it -- simply by reading the label.

Despite the contention of the cosmetic industry that half the population is allergic to one or another ingredient and that manufacturers cannot possibly guart against all sensitives, many consumers could protect themselves if they knew what a cosmetic contained before they bought it.

At present, the only way to know which products contain which ingredients is by buying an expensive book called "Clinical Toxicology of Commercial Products."

Eagleton Amendment

I have been concerned about the lack of adequate control in this area for some time and have been inspired by the extensive work done in Sullivan, the leading Congressional expert on the subject.

A few weeks ago there was a breakthrough when the Senate Labor and Public Welfare Committee adopted my amendment to the Food, Drug and Consumer Product Safety Act of 1972 providing for the clear labeling of each ingredient in cosmetic products. In also requires a warning label whenever a cosmetic would be dangerous under any reasonably foreseeable conditions of use or misuse.

The full Senate will be voting on this proposal, important to millions of consumers, this week.

? Consumer's Question Box ?

By Margaret Dana

Q. Can you tell me if microwave ovens will brown roasts of meat? My husband read in an electronics magazine that microwave ovens don't brown anything because they cook from the inside out. I don't like meat unless it is nice and brown.

A. It was true of all microwave ovens, when first introduce, that they did not brown any food. But in checking improvements since then I find that several makers now say their microwave ovens will brown even large roasts of meat. I suggest that before deciding on any brand or type of microwave oven, you check thoroughly what the maker says his oven will do in this respect. But generally speaking it is true that the oven cooks most foods by direct heat of the microwaves, without even heating the pans in which the food is baking, and not browning the surface of the food.

Q. I have heard that some state recently passed a law requiring anybody who claims to be able to repair cars and motor bikes to be registered and licensed to do this work. Could you find out which state this is and how the law works?

A. You may be referring to California where the Automotive Repair Act became effective on March 4 of this year. It requires that all business establishments engaged in repairing, maintaining or diagnosing malfunctions of passenger vehicles, including motorcycles, must be registered with the Bureau of Automative Repair, Dept of Consumer Affairs of the State of California, not later than June 30, 1972.

One of the important points of this regulation is that a customer must be provided with a written estimate for labor and parts before any repair work is undertaken. A customer is entitled to the replaced parts, if the request for them is made before work starts. These and other requirements make this a most important consumer ruling and other states are expected to follow suit.

Q. My problem is phonograph records. I have been buying records since I was nine years old and now I'm 14. In these five and a half years I have come across many records, about 50 out of 200, that don't play right for some reason or other.They skip, stick. or just plain slide over the whole record. I am thoroughly disgusted, Isn't there anything that can be done about it? I'm just about ready to stop buying records.

A. Yes, I think something can be done about this problem, but first I need to know names of makers of those records which have misbehaved and about how long ago.

Sometimes a defect is corrected after years of consumer complaints, but not everyone hears about this. Also there have in recent years been some records made and sold by fly-by-night companies which feel no responsibility for customer satisfaction.

Their names would help provide necessary information to correct the cause of the defective records. Write me giving company names and names of the records, and check to see if your friends have had similar experiences.

Q. I enclose some advertisements of the special bags to be used for cooking food, baking or roasting meats, etc. Have they been accepted by the Food and Drug Administration as safe? Could they affect the health of those eating food cooked in them?

A. After considerable intensive research the FDA states that the bags meant for roasting or otherwise cooking food are safe, if the maker's directions are carefully followed. The hazard was not in any toxic reaction to the food, but possible fire hazard, or explosion, etc. It is now assured that by following directions on the label no danger exists.

Q. I would like to know what is meant by "farmer's cheese," "pot cheese," and baker's cheese." Are they similar to cottage cheese, and what is the calorie content of these?

A. "Farmer's cheese" and "pot cheese" are simply different names for cottage cheese, according to the Dairy Council, the U. S. Department of Agriculture and others. But I do not find "baker's cheese" listed in any of these reports. I believe, however, it is probably simily another version of the local name for cottage cheese. As for calories, the USDA "Pocket Guide to Calories and Weight" says that two tablespoons of cottage cheese, uncreamed, contains 25 calories. Cottage cheese, creamed, contains only five more calories per two tablespoons.

Solid Waste Disposal To Be Discussed

Propsoals for solid waste disposal will be discussed at the planning and zoning commission meeting at 7:30 tonight in the City Administrative Building on North New Madrid.

Also under consideration at tonight's meeting will be the rezoning of a portion of the Montgomery tract adjacent to Donna Street and the resubdivision of land owned by John Cowan.

to waive a house-moving fee against Woodrow Gaines because he was already in the process of moving a house when an ordinance was approved by the council requiring a permit to move houses over city streets.

A special meeting was held last week approving the ordinance requiring application to the city for a permit to move a house over city streets for a fee of $50. The permit would require information concerning the place of entry, route, final destination, weight and time and date of movement.

An injunction brought against Gaines by the city was dismissed Monday in Stoddard County Circuit Court.

The total 1972 valuation assessment for the city was $7,094,659, including real estate valuation of $5,361,915, personal valuation of $1,442,759 and merchant valuation of $289,985.

Following resignation of Al Lange as library trustee, Bob McGill was recommended by the library board and approved by the council to replace Lange.

James Carney, chairman, Eldon Cooper and James Williams were appointed to make a recommendation to the council at the next meeting concerning a liquor license request by Dale Kirkbride, owner of the Pizza Villa which is now under construction. The committee will decide whether or not to allow Kirkbride a liquor license. The city's license quota has already been reached.

The council approved a request to pay expenses for city attorney Paul McGhee to attend the municipal attorney's meeting in July at Lodge of the Four Seasons and Mayor Conner's expenses to attend municipal league meetings.

Police Judge Tom Nunn was instructed to meet with the council's police committee concerning an equitable court cost for those signing complaints for some alleged violation of a city ordinance and then failing to appear in court. This recommendation will then be given to the council for consideration.
